Subordinates Ignored Orders, Declares Johnson

Senior Surviving Officer of Vestris Says Crew Members Were Absent From Stations at Lifeboats and That Women and Children Were Placed In the Most Dangerously Situated Boats—Release Mechanism of Lifeboats Was "Not Successful."

Federal Building, New York, Nov. 21 (AP).—A retired United States naval officer took over the questioning at the Federal inquiry into the sinking of the British steamer Vestris today and elicited from the senior surviving officer of the ship that his subordinates ignored his orders when the vessel was sinking, that crew members were absent from their stations at the lifeboats, and that women and children passengers were placed in the most dangerously situated boats.

The U. S. Naval Officer was Captain E. T. Jessup, American Naval Advisor to United States Commissioner O'Neill, who is presiding at the hearing. The witness he questioned was Frank Johnson, chief officer of the Vestris.

Before Jessup took over the questioning, Johnson had testified under questioning by United States Attorney Tuttle, who is conducting the inquiry, that the release mechanism of lifeboats was "not successful."

As Jessup interrogated Johnson, Captain Henry McConkey, British Naval Advisor at the hearing, sat on the other side of Commissioner O'Neill attentively listening to the exchange of questions and answers.

The two advisors were appointed at the suggestion of the British government, the British Consul General selecting Captain McConkey, who is marine superintendent of the Cunard Line and Tuttle picking Captain Jessup.

Approves McConkey's Suggestions. Before Johnson was called Tuttle told the commission that Captain Henry McConkey, the British expert acting as advisor at the hearing, had made several suggestions which he approved.

McConkey suggested calling as a witness the master of the Vestris who preceded the late Captain William Carey who went down with his ship. The man's name it was learned, is Babra.

He also advised offering the Lamport and Holt Line, owners of the Vestris, the opportunity to place on the stand any of their officials or employees they wished with a view to establishing the cause of the disaster, which cost more than 100 lives, to place the responsibility for it, and to determine if the ship was in proper condition to go to sea on its last voyage.

An official on the line, who was present at the hearing, said he would produce such men, and tomorrow was set for their testimony.

Chains to Release Handles Broke. Johnson, who testified at length earlier in the federal inquiry into the sinking of the Vestris off the Virginia Capes nine days ago, was recalled as the first witness at today's session.

"Was there any release mechanism for the lifeboats on the Vestris?" United States Attorney Tuttle, who is conducting the inquiry before United States Commissioner F. A. O'Neill and an American and a British naval expert, asked.

"Yes," Johnson, who is senior surviving officer of the Vestris, replied. "There was a handle which when pulled down was supposed to release the boats."

"Was any effort made to use this device?"

"Yes."

"How did it work?"

"It was not successful," Johnson testified. "In two instances chains attached to the release handles broke."

William Weiss May Be Deported

William Weiss, a butcher employed at the Forst plant on Abel street, was arrested Tuesday afternoon at the request of the United States Immigration authorities by Officer Fitzgerald. Later in the day Weiss was taken to Ellis Island by officers from the immigration service. It is said that Weiss was living in this country without having the proper papers and would likely be deported. According to the police Weiss was mixed up in an affair at an outing last summer in which a man was struck on the jaw with an empty bottle, inflicting injuries which later caused his death. Shortly after that episode Weiss left the city and only returned a short time ago. Weiss is 40 years old.

Snow in New York.

New York, Nov. 21 (AP).—New York felt the first real touch of winter today when snow began to fall shortly before 9 a. m. The fall was light and the weather bureau said it would not amount to much.

Vestris Needed Repairs for Two Years, Say Crew

Men Reported Conditions Last Two Trips Without Any Action Being Taken—Inspectors Deny Drinking With Vestris Officers.

New York, Nov. 21 (AP).—Testimony that the lost steamship Vestris had been in need of repairs for two years has been given by members of the crew.

United States inspectors reported that the British liner was seaworthy before she left on her last voyage, yet members of the crew told Federal Commissioner O'Neill yesterday that various port holes through which the sinking ship took water, had been out of repair.

The testimony was that of Gilbert Ford, chief fireman; Isaac James Scott, a saloon waiter, and Thomas Connor, head waiter in the first cabin.

Ford testified that the ash ejector valve in the stokehold shipped water, and always had during rough weather. He said he tried to tighten the screws on the valve but they were rusty and had been that way throughout his service on the ship. He said he had made a formal report because "everybody knew about it."

Officers of the Vestris previously had testified that water coming in through this pipe and other places in the coal bunkers contributed to the foundering of the vessel.

Scott and Connor told of a half door on the starboard side of the vessel, about ten feet above the water line, through which the water poured in such a stream after the ship started to list on Sunday night, 20 hours before she sank, that the bailing efforts of several men could not keep up with it. They testified that on previous trips when the weather was rough seas had been shipped through this door.

Scott said the water which came in through the door poured down into the coal bunkers through hatches which were not covered until Monday morning. The water was so deep in their quarters Sunday night, he said, that they could not use the lower berths.

He also told of being assigned to No. 4 lifeboat, which he testified was loaded with women and left suspended five feet above the water. He said it was carried down with the ship. He himself jumped overboard and was rescued by another lifeboat.

No Action Taken.

Connor told of saloon portholes which needed re-rubbing and which he had reported as out of repair the last two trips without any action being taken. Both he and Scott said they had not officially reported the leaking half door but that the crew, whose quarters were near, often cursed about it when the water came into the passageway to their quarters during rough weather. Connor also testified that many of the "dead light" porthole covers, iron covers hung on hinges which are dropped down over the glass ports, were so stiff that the weight of several persons hanging on them was not sufficient to close them.

Connor was in lifeboat No. 8, which was overturned in launching. He was picked up by another lifeboat. Frederick Sorenson, a passenger on the Vestris who himself holds masters' papers, repeated the details he had made before the steamboat inspection inquiry of published stories which quoted him as criticizing the handling of the boat and the actions of the officers and crew. He characterized the reports as "absolute rank lies."

While these witnesses were testifying before Commissioner O'Neill and the two nautical representatives of the United States and British governments, D. N. Hoover, inspector general of the steamboat inspection service, was conducting an inquiry into the inspection of the Vestris made by his own men shortly before she sailed on her fatal voyage.

Captain Edward W. Keane, in charge of the three inspectors, said they had made a thorough inspection of the ship and found her seaworthy in every respect. He admitted, however, that he had made an inspection of six of the fourteen coal ports at a distance because he could not get near them due to the vessel having already been coaled.

Inspectors Deny Drinking.

Captain Keane also denied that he and the other two inspectors spent their time aboard the ship eating and drinking with Vestris officers as was charged in a letter signed by a Samuel Lawson to steamboat inspection the Vestris had not done so.

Hoffman Street Zoning Held for Public Hearing

Ordinance That Would Permit Manhattan Shirt Company to Enlarge Plant Is Submitted to Aldermen—Public Hearing December 4—Objections Filled.

The laws and rules committee of the common council on Tuesday evening submitted a proposed ordinance to amend the zoning ordinance by placing the plant of the Manhattan Shirt Company on Hoffman street within the industrial district and extending the industrial zone an additional fifty feet on that street. Under the provisions of the zoning ordinance any change or amendment to it must first have a public hearing before it can be brought up for adoption or rejection by the aldermen. On motion of Alderman Belyea it was decided to hold the public hearing on the proposed amendment to the zoning ordinance on Tuesday evening, December 4, at 7 o'clock. This is the regular meeting night of the council.

The Manhattan Shirt Company is desirous of building an addition to its plant on Hoffman street and in order to do so the present zoning law must be amended so that the adjoining property, now in the residential zone, be placed in the industrial zone.

At the meeting Tuesday evening a petition from the property owners on Hoffman street objecting to any change being made in the present zoning law was read and filed.

While the residents on Hoffman street object to the enlargement of the plant of the shirt factory, the Chamber of Commerce and the three Business Men's Associations of the city are all in favor of amending the zoning ordinance so that the factory may be enlarged. Communications to that effect were received and read from the Chamber of Commerce, the Upward Business Men's Association, the Central Business Association and the Downtown Business Men's Association. The communications were filed.

Two Plead Guilty In County Court

Defendant Charged With Forgery Pleads Guilty Without Waiting for Grand Jury Action—Another Pleads Guilty to Abandonment.

County court convened this morning at 10 o'clock at which time Edgar Peterson, 21, of Hunter street, held by the city court to await the action of the grand jury, appeared in court and requested that he be prosecuted by information ordered filed with the court. Peterson was charged in city court with forgery, first degree. District Attorney Traver in presenting the case stated that Peterson had passed a check which under the law constituted forgery, second degree, and he requested that the charge be changed to that degree. On order of the court the charge was made second degree and Peterson entered a plea of guilty to that charge. Sentence will be imposed Monday at 10 o'clock.

Court then went into recess until 11 o'clock at which time F. W. Brooks, who appears in the next case on the calendar, was engaged in surrogate's court until that hour.

When county court reconvened Edward DeLase, who last week entered a plea of guilty to a charge of assault, also entered a plea of guilty to abandonment of his children at the town of Lloyd. DeLase, who is 24 years old, received a combination sentence which takes care of both cases. It was with this understanding that he entered the plea of guilty to the abandonment charge.

The court suspended imposition of sentence in both cases with the consent of DeLase's wife, through her attorney, on condition that he pay to her $10 a week toward the support of the children. DeLase agreed to pay $10 now and then remit through Probation Officer Service $12 a week until the remaining $80 is paid up and then he will send $10 a week. A bond of $1,000 will be posted to guarantee payment of the money.

F. W. Brooks, who appears in the next case, was still busy and court recessed until 2 o'clock, when the trial of the indictment against Edson Baker, an assault, third degree, case, was to be taken up.

Storm Warnings Ordered.

Cleveland, Nov. 21 (AP).—Storm warnings were ordered on the Great Lakes by the government weather bureau this morning. Southwest storm warnings were given for Lakes Erie and Ontario and north-west for Lakes Michigan, Huron and Superior.

Officials. The letter was written on stationery of the United States Line but officials there said no such person was listed on their books as an employee of the company.

"That is the most atrocious lie that I have ever heard," Captain Keane testified when the letter was read into the record. "I am the fourth generation of my family which has never touched a drop of any stimulants."

E. N. Branning, another of the inspectors, also denied the charge in the letter. He said it was customary for the officers of inspected ships to offer them a drink but that the officers of the Vestris had not done so.

Resolutions Introduced.

The following resolutions were offered and laid over under the rule: Supervisor Ripper—That there be levied on town of Wawarsing $4,250 to pay bridge bonds and interest; to levy $419,281 to pay three certificates of indebtedness.

Supervisor Elzyka—That there be levied on town of Woodstock $100 for Willow cemetery; to levy $1,999 for general town purposes.

Supervisor Shaw—To levy on town of New Paltz to aid Ellings Memorial Library fund.

Supervisor Feeter—To levy on town of Lloyd $1,000 for Highland Public Library; $1,500 for public health nurse; $440 to pay note and interest on voting machines.

Town Highway Superintendents File Estimates

Amounts Needed by Towns for Highway Maintenance Submitted to Board of Supervisors—County Treasurer's Report Shows County Still Paying on Civil War Bonds.

Communications and resolutions asking for appropriations formed the bulk of business transacted by the board of supervisors at the session Tuesday evening.

County Treasurer Joel Brink in communications reported various amounts paid out by him and requested appropriations be made to cover same. During the past year the county's share of cost of construction of highways was $74,378.92, as follows:

Read 3160, Ellenville-Kingston, Part 2, $2,320.70.
No. 3189, Ellenville-Kingston, $2,573.51.
No. 3252, Walkkill-Ireland Corner, $13,454.67.

No. 31731, Ulster & Delaware, $4,567.21.
No. 3211, $5,229.12.
No. 3229, Kingston-High Falls, $4,551.71.
No. 1762, Bridge No. 1, $800.84.

Referred to the committee on town and county accounts.

County Treasurer Brink reported having paid out for various towns and the city for examinations in January the following amounts: Esopus, $40; Hurley, $20; Kingston, $20; Lloyd, $70; Marlborough, $20; New Paltz, $70; Plattekill, $20; Rosendale, $20; Saugerties, $130; Ulster, $10. Total, $520.

Referred to the committee on town and county accounts.

Bonds and Interest Falling Due.

County Treasurer Brink reported that highway bonds to the amount of $12,000 would fall due in 1929, and interest due in 1929 on bonds was $2,515. Referred to committee on appropriations.

County Treasurer Brink reported that Ulster county was a participant in the New York State Highway Improvement System and there was due from the county to the fund $1,683.50, and requested it be appropriated. Referred to the committee on appropriations.

County Road Construction.

County Superintendent of Highway Construction reported that county road construction in towns under the system adopted was as follows:

Denning, $17; Esopus, 7.3; Gardiner, 10.95; Hardenburgh, 9.93; Hurley, 5.75; Lloyd, 6.4; Marlborough, 9.99; Marlborough, 10.45; New Paltz, 5.3; Olive, 4.25; Plattekill, 8.51; Rochester, 4.98; Rosendale, 5.98; Saugerties, 9.71; Shandaken, 9.66; Shawangunk, 9.25; Ulster, 9.26; Wawarsing, 10.48; Woodstock, 4.75. Total $151.13.

Extraordinary town expenses due to repairs to roads and bridges made necessary for traffic following the flood last August petitions for which were filed with the board as follows: Denning, $3,000; Olive, $4,000; Rochester, $9,000; Shawangunk, $2,500; Wawarsing, $7,000; a total of $25,500.

Referred to committee on town expenses.

Estimates for Highway Maintenance.

The town superintendents of highways submitted their estimates as to amounts necessary to be paid by each town for maintenance:

Name of Town	Amount of First Item	Amount of Second Item	Amount of Third Item	Amount of Fourth Item
Denning	$2,225	$1,000	$1,000	$4,200
Esopus	11,000	700	700	5,500

Wawarsing	11,000	1,500	1,500	4,000
Woodstock	6,000	2,500	1,500	2,500

Resolutions introduced.

The following resolutions were offered and laid over under the rule: Supervisor Ripper—That there be levied on town of Wawarsing $4,250 to pay bridge bonds and interest; to levy $419,281 to pay three certificates of indebtedness.

Supervisor Elzyka—That there be levied on town of Woodstock $100 for Willow cemetery; to levy $1,999 for general town purposes.

Supervisor Shaw—To levy on town of New Paltz to aid Ellings Memorial Library fund.

Supervisor Feeter—To levy on town of Lloyd $1,000 for Highland Public Library; $1,500 for public health nurse; $440 to pay note and interest on voting machines.

Council Adopts Ordinance for Sunday Movies

Ordinance at Common Council Session Which Is Adopted by Vote of 11 to 1 With One Not Voting.

An ordinance permitting the showing of motion pictures in Kingston on Sundays was adopted by the common council at the meeting held Tuesday evening in the Municipal Building. At the general election earlier in the month the question was submitted to the voters of the city and the referendum was carried by a majority vote of over five hundred.

The ordinance adopted had been drawn by the laws and rules committee and provides that "it shall be lawful to exhibit motion pictures on the first day of the week commonly called Sunday after 2 o'clock in the afternoon."

Alderman Clark, the father of the Sunday movies in Kingston, moved that the ordinance be adopted which was seconded by Alderman Mann. On roll call it was adopted, eleven aldermen voting in favor. Alderman Haines of the Second ward voted against the adoption of the ordinance and Alderman Dressel of the First ward was excused from voting. The eleven voting in favor were Alderman Hermance, Molyneux, Fox, Mann, Ostrander, Clark, O'Reilly, Burger, Reilya, Hull and Reilly.

Before the adoption of the Sunday movie ordinance a communication was read from St. James M. E. Sunday school official board addressed to Mayor E. J. Dempsey and stating that at a meeting held the evening of November 12, a resolution had been unanimously adopted requesting the mayor to use his best efforts to prevent the showing of motion pictures on Sunday in Kingston. The communication was filed.

Barrymore to Wed Film Actress

Applies for License to Wed Dolores Costello, Daughter of Veteran Player, Who Has Had Many Leading Roles—His Third Matrimonial Venture.

Los Angeles, Nov. 21 (AP).—Hollywood's arenas of motion picture romance buzzed today with discussion of the impending marriage of John Barrymore, stage and screen star, and Dolores Costello, film actress and daughter of the veteran player Maurice Costello. Barrymore applied for the license yesterday.

The marriage will be Barrymore's third venture into matrimony and Miss Costello's first. Neither would discuss plans for the wedding but close friends intimated that they probably would wed during the coming week-end.

News of the engagement caused a mild sensation in Hollywood, as none but the closest friends of the couple were aware that anything more than friendship existed between the two—a friendship which began several years ago when they appeared in the leading roles of one of Barrymore's pictures.

Barrymore, unaccompanied, walked into the marriage license bureau yesterday and signified his intention to wed. He gave his name as John Barrymore, age 41. He listed Miss Costello's age as 22.

The actor declined to make any statement to reporters at the marriage license bureau, but later in the day, at his screen studio he gave out the following notes:

"Miss Costello and Mr. Barrymore applied this morning for a license to marry."

"The former Mrs. John Barrymore, who is now abroad, has been separated from her husband for several years and recently obtained a divorce from him. No definite date has been set for the marriage."

In 1910 Barrymore married Catherine Harris, daughter of a wealthy New York and Santa Barbara family. She obtained a divorce in December, 1917. He then married Mrs. Leonard M. Thomas of New York, known as an authoress and playwright under the name of Michael Strang. A recent divorce put an end to this union. Barrymore has a daughter by his second wife.

Miss Costello has had leading roles in many pictures. She has a sister, Helen Costello, also a screen actress.

Three days more elapse under the California law before the license will be issued.

Itinerary of Herbert Hoover

Washington, Nov. 21 (AP).—Herbert Hoover's itinerary down the west coast of Central and South America includes a stop at Amapala, Honduras, November 25, to visit Amapala and La Union, Salvador, which is nearby. The remainder of his route as contained in a message from the battleship Maryland to the Navy Department follows:

Corinto, Nicaragua, November 26; Santa Arenas, Costa Rica, November 27; Guayquil, Ecuador, November 28; Colloao, Peru, December 3; Valparaiso, Chile, December 7.

Under this plan Panama will not be visited.

Gov. Brewster Outlines Plan to Prevent Panics

Maine Executive, at Request of Herbert Hoover, Tells Conference of Governors of Hoover Program to Create Three Billion Dollar Nationwide Construction Reserve to Be Released in Times of Overproduction and Unemployment.

New Orleans, Nov. 21 (AP).—Governor Ralph O. Brewster of Maine, acting on the request of Herbert Hoover, outlined today before the Conference of Governors a plan for the creation of a nationwide construction reserve of $3,000,000,000, to be released in times of overproduction and unemployment.

Governor Brewster recommended that public authorities store up a reserve of construction projects equal to two years' normal expenditure on improvements and release this reserve at times of unemployment. Such a fund, he said, would be one of the best forms of insurance against national panics.

These views of the way in which the states and other public authorities may cooperate with the federal government in controlling in some measure construction work for the common good, said the Governor, "are presented to the Conference of Governors at the request of Herbert Hoover as an authorized exposition of a portion of his program for stabilizing the prosperity of the United States."

In requesting the presentation of this project to the Conference of Governors, Mr. Hoover emphasized the importance of the establishing of cooperation between federal, state and municipal governments in accordance with the proposals outlined at the time of the unemployment conference in 1922.

Organization for Prosperity. Organization for prosperity, he said, is the next lesson America may track to the nations of the world. The Governor said that America emulates Tantalus, the mythological personage who lived in the presence of plenty but never could touch it.

"Such conditions," he said, "constitute a tragedy and a travesty upon the organizing genius of American business men."

"With an annual expenditure of seven billion upon construction, America is in a position to stabilize prosperity to a most remarkable extent," he added. "Public authority spends more than a billion and a half. With this we are here primarily concerned."

Private Business Would Follow Government. "Private business will soon follow such practical demonstration as the government may make since the great commercial interests of the country have the most vital stake. This may apply not only to construction, but to the renewal and extension of capital facilities of every sort. It is the considered recommendation of the one who has received the overwhelming mandate of the American people to guide their progress in the next four years that a construction reserve may prudently be accumulated in time of plenty against the lean year that is to come."

"This involves simply the provision of the necessary funds or credit to be released when indexes shall indicate the need and such designation of projects as may commend itself to the authority concerned."

No Infringement of Legislative Privileges. Governor Brewster told the governors that no infringement of legislative prerogatives was contemplated, because no project could be carried out except as the legislature might direct, although the rapidity of the construction program within defined limits could be accelerated or retarded to synchronize with national and local needs.

"Creation of such a construction reserve," he continued, "is one of the best forms of insurance against the panics of our past. It may not be a cure-all but certainly will alleviate our ills. In some measure it is possible to do for employment what the federal reserve system has done for finance and with equal advantage to the country as a whole."

Remedy Situation in Twinkling of Eye. "Picture the approach of an economic crisis with unemployment threatening on every hand. The release of three billions in construction contracts by public and quasi-public authorities would remedy or ameliorate the situation in the twinkling of an eye. Federal funds are already becoming available to the contractor, to the laborer, to the material men, to the factory, to the farmer. It is like the house that Jack built and unemployment is at an end."

"No centralization of authority is proposed, but merely the creation of a condition by concerted action that shall make possible a remedy that will appear persuasively to all. Few will appeal persuasively to all. Few will appeal persuasively to all. Few will appeal persuasively to all."

The following places were not padlocked but required to furnish $500 bond that no further violation be permitted on the premises: Dolly Restaurant, Hudson, Dolly Murray, proprietor; Chatam House, Anthony Poistevre, proprietor; Trixi Hotel and Lunch Room, Hudson, Vito Sciatta, proprietor.

Personal injunctions against the proprietors, waiters and bartenders were ordered in all the above cases. Maxwell Shapiro, assistant U. S. attorney, on behalf of the government, prosecuted these cases, many of which were results of raids made through the Kingston office.

Federal Judge Goddard Directs Padlocking of Places for Violations of Dry Law—Many Places Raided Through Kingston Office.

Federal Judge Finley W. Goddard of New York city passed on a number of cases involving violations of the prohibition act Tuesday, among which places of this vicinity were included. Federal Judge Goddard ordered the following concerning the cases brought before him:

Beau Arts Club of 49th street, New York city, and Les Freres Club of 620 Sixth avenue, New York, operated in conjunction with it, padlocked for one year. Personal injunctions were ordered to be issued against proprietors of both places. Bedford Inn, Fishkill, Robert Kent, Jr., proprietor, was also ordered padlocked for one year.

In the following cases six months' padlocks were ordered: Vanderbilt House, Philmont, Columbia county, Richard Mansfield, proprietor; Cedar Grove, Saugerties, Alfred E. and Harry Jordan, proprietors; City Hotel, Hudson, Adam Treddall, proprietor; All Home Inn, Rhinebeck, Richard Teils and Harold J. Teils, proprietors; places of Della Witkowski and Julius Martel, Hudson; Albany Hotel, Hudson, John Martino, proprietor; places of Henry Langlois, Steve Cahot, Joseph Anderson, Walter Witkowski, Angelo De Joy, Hudson; Mulford's Grill, Saugerties, Charles L. and Harry Mulford, proprietors; Joseph Zouch, Old Chatham; Village Inn, East Durham, Joseph Pacini, proprietor.

The following places were not padlocked but required to furnish $500 bond that no further violation be permitted on the premises: Dolly Restaurant, Hudson, Dolly Murray, proprietor; Chatam House, Anthony Poistevre, proprietor; Trixi Hotel and Lunch Room, Hudson, Vito Sciatta, proprietor.

Personal injunctions against the proprietors, waiters and bartenders were ordered in all the above cases. Maxwell Shapiro, assistant U. S. attorney, on behalf of the government, prosecuted these cases, many of which were results of raids made through the Kingston office.

Watch Tongue For Signs of Illness

Your tongue is nothing more than the upper end of your stomach and intestines. It is the first thing your doctor looks at. It tells at a glance the condition of your digestive system—and physicians say that 90 per cent of all sicknesses start with stomach and bowel trouble.

A white or yellowish coating on your tongue is a danger signal of those digestive disorders. It tells you why the least exertion tires you out; why you have pains in the bowels, gas, sour stomach, dizzy spells.

And it's a sign you need Tanlac. This good old reliable medicine has helped thousands who were physically weak. See how the first bottle helps you.

Tanlac contains no mineral drugs; it is made of barks, herbs and roots—nature's own medicines for the sick. Get a bottle from your druggist today. Your money back if it doesn't help you.

$100,000 Gift For St. Stephen's

Announcements from N. Y. Nov. 21.—St. Stephen's College, Columbia University, located in this place, announces a gift of $100,000 for the general endowment from Edward P. Albee, president of Bethlehem Steel Corporation. Mr. Albee has in former years built a dormitory for this college, costing $125,000, and two faculty houses at a cost of $25,000.

This gift is the first of a two-year series of $100,000 each which St. Stephen's College is seeking during the winter to enable it to advance its plan to develop a college of the university type. On Jan. 1 last this old college, in operation since 1860, became a member of the university with equal status to that of Columbia College and Barnard College.

The committee in charge of raising the $2,000,000 needed, most of which is for faculty salary improvement, consisted of Dr. Henry Hartington, Thomas B. Barnes, Joseph P. Day, Harry Fisher and Mr. Albee, with Dr. Nicholas Murray Butler and Warden Bernard I. Bell as ex-officio members. There will be no professional campaign organization employed and every dollar given will go wholly to the college.

The very good sum of $181 has been sent to the Ulster County Salvation Army headquarters by the Marlborough committee. This amount was contributed by local people in the campaign for funds now in progress. Wilbur J. Haviland was chairman of the local committee and Edmund Carpenter was secretary. Other members were Cluett Schantz, Olaf Sundstrom and Bert Kniffin.

Charles Brogan and son of Brooklyn spent the week end at their home here.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Kramer and family of Kingston spent Sunday here.

Mr. and Mrs. John Downer and Mr. and Mrs. Nicholas Mertis called on friends in Plattkill on Sunday.

The Marlborough Presbyterian Church has already set the date for its Christmas exercises. They will be held Friday evening, December 21.

At the regular meeting of the C. D. of A., Court Santa Maria, of Marlborough, on Monday evening in its rooms in St. Mary's Hall, it was voted to pay the balance, $400, on the oil burner they had installed in St. Mary's Hall last month.

The Marlborough Hose Company was called out at 5 o'clock Monday morning to a fire at David Gaffney's. One of the barns was burned but they managed to save the other buildings.

Mr. and Mrs. Will Plank visited over the week end recently with Miss Jesse Anna Plank, a student at the Syracuse University.

The Rev. George Montrose of Columbia county, former pastor of the Methodist Church here, called on friends here the past week.

Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Brown and Mr. and Mrs. Roy Dawes are spending a few days on a hunting trip in Sullivan county the past week.

The Rev. W. H. LaCompte, newly called pastor of the Presbyterian Church, preached here on Sunday.

Mrs. William Orr spent several days in New York city recently.

Calvin Staples, Jr., is having a concrete sidewalk laid in front of his home on DuBois street.

Job-Hunting In Glorious Gotham

The Great Gotham Circus Offers Many Features. But Job-Hunting Is One of the Most Interesting of Less Spectacular Amusements.

By E. G. Smith

This is the season of the year when hundreds of people from all parts of the land descend on New York and claim the great city as their home. And in Gotham within the season is hailed as a gay one, for the new residents bring with them social appetites and summer savings that pour into the coffers of the metropolitan melting-pot and keep always alive the stupendous circus that is New York.

The condition has produced what may be called a new Metropolitan Sport, that of job-hunting. Contestants in this game are primed and cocked, eager and willing for the fray. But it often enough resolves itself into a long contest, for job-hunting in New York requires special training; it is like job-hunting in no other place. Out in Mason City, Iowa, or in Poughkeepsie, N. Y., getting a job somehow came easy; there were always friends and relatives who knew of a vacancy, and there was little competition for the vacancy which one almost fell into without trying.

In New York the matter isn't quite so easy; the city acts as a tonic for the newcomers, and savings are so soon spent; it's a great life, and not even the job-hunter will save his pennies until he has to work in New York for them.

A woman writing recently of the young people who come annually to New York spoke of the problem as "Youth and the Monster," hinting that the city was a beast that but one out of fifty could conquer. To me the city seems to be a huge mechanism which must be studied before one can learn how the wheels spin, which corner or number to put the coin on in order to win.

Small-Town Methods Fail. The newcomer usually tries small-town methods which fail; calls are made on erstwhile friends, who too often are looking for jobs themselves, or have been working in one place so long they are quite ignorant about the methods used today in job-hunting. With this first avenue closed, the job-hunter tries the newspapers. The endless columns of classified advertisements are read through with diligence, a few selected, and letters dispatched.

Out of seven letters, one is certain to land one job! But after waiting a week, one decides that there must have been too many letters sent in; only one reply came back, and that was for a job in a small town in Jersey, and who wants to go to Jersey when one feels already established in New York because of a scant acquaintance with some landlord and a restaurant waiter.

Perhaps the few insert advertisements, but they are quickly intimidated by replies which come from other publications seeking to help with "Our column will appeal to the very group you wish to reach."

Here it is that one learns about the Employment Agencies of which New York boasts of hundreds. On suggestion, one begins with "the best agency" or "the best bureau" in the city. The great shock is to find that the agency offices are crowded with other men and women who are also trying to find jobs. The application blank is important; one writes down a detailed history of one's experiences, bringing to New York a detailed record of the small-town history of America. "Come back this afternoon," says the desk man. One goes, full with certainty that a job awaits.

New York Doesn't Care. After a week calling at several agencies, one sickens of the continual "come in tomorrow" and begins to feel that somehow New York doesn't care whether one has been a bank cashier or a newspaper reporter.

All this time the city continues merrily on its way; nightly the theatres are crowded, the restaurants and hotels swarm with people who "must have money" or they wouldn't be there. The Circus of New York draws millions of newcomers into the big tent and pays no heed to the individual who is job-hunting. This soon makes the job-hunter ashamed, and he refuses to admit that he has no job. A loan is made from the ever-emptying purse, and a brave front and a few minor haberdashery accessories pay obedience to the continuous Circus of the Greatest City in the World.

All along Sixth avenue there are employment agencies where daily small cards are posted offering menial jobs at wages running from $12 to $20 a week; hundreds of men and women stop in their job-hunting to read these signs, wondering if they will be forced to come to such degradation rather than return to the home town. But very few people enter these agency offices. They may be ever so poor and desperate, but there is something about the Circus that prevents them from selling their pride and appealing to ex-

While national forecasts tell in optimistic words that the unemployment this coming winter will be less than usual, New York agencies and bureaus are interviewing hundreds and hundreds of job-hunting men and women daily. An investigation made last week by one of the largest executive agencies of the newspaper field alone showed that there were 1,400 unemployed among the established newspaper men and women in the city; this doesn't take into account the hundreds of newspaper men and women who are hunting their first New York newspaper job. In other professions there is the same story to be told.

Employment Agencies Topheavy. This annual influx has brought about a large network of agencies which exist for job-hunters, and even though the writer was informed at one agency that they had just placed a man in a position paying him $15,000 a year, these agencies seem to make money from those who have none. Hundreds and hundreds of men and women are employed in employment agencies that can't begin to find jobs for thousands of those who apply. It is a top-heavy structure, and should be abandoned. But that's part of the Circus, and to see ever suggests that the Circus be stripped of the bottom.

There is a suit another matter when the job-hunter uses. That is the personal interview with a friend or friend. This friend—once removed—is a person of importance, and an appointment must be made six or seven days in advance for an interview. The writer received a personal letter from one of these important marked the time and place down a week in advance, called at the place on the time only to find that the personage was out of town for a week. There are other private interviews which necessitate interviewing several secretaries, only to be ushered into the presence of a person who gives out a name of another person in another part of the town who proves equally unapproachable, and there begins the sneaking feeling that after all employment agencies are necessary; that avenue is followed for another period.

After these preliminaries, one gets a call from one of the thirty-eight or sixty-three applications he has sent out, and takes a job, and forgoes the whole ordeal. And countless newcomers take up the sport of job-hunting and the New York circus goes merrily on.

NEW PALTZ

New Paltz, Nov. 21.—Roy Chapman Andrews, famous traveler and lecturer, who was scheduled to speak in the Normal School Auditorium on Monday evening, is unable to be here on that night. Instead, he will be thousands of miles away. Mr. Andrews is at present in Tibet, China, having just completed a perilous and adventurous trip through Siberia. He is having difficulties with the Chinese Nationalist Government as regards shipping out of the country his many collections of specimens that he made during this trip. He experienced similar difficulties last year and so was unable to entertain a New Paltz audience then. However, Dr. Van den Berg has completed arrangements to have Mr. Andrews here on Tuesday evening, January 8.

During the past two week ends Newman Hall has entertained many former members and school fellows. Among the visitors were Margaret Quinn, Agnes Hagen, Claire Fitzgerald, Madelon McMullen, Dorothy Kahn and Carmel Spoto.

The Normal School Orchestra under the leadership of Miss Harding, now plays regularly in chapel. On November 22 they are putting on a concert for the entertainment of all the grades. The program will start at 2 p. m.

Jay Phillips, called The Sleuth, a member of the New York police department, who has made many prominent arrests and is on the honor roll of the detective force, has been a guest for several weeks on his leave of absence at Eberle's Maple Lodge Farm, Springtown. While here Mr. Phillips has enjoyed hunting and got two nice pheasants and he has also had good luck fishing, catching some nice bass.

Miss M. K. Jones of the Central Gas and Electric Corporation will demonstrate a home service lesson on "What Shall I Have For Dessert?" on Friday, November 23, at 2:30 at the office of the Central Hudson Gas and Electric Corporation on South Chestnut street. This lesson will explain the preparation of several unusual puddings and cream desserts, some easily prepared on a minute's notice. Miss Jones extends a cordial invitation for all to attend.

John Lorin of Libertyville was the guest of friends in town Monday night.

Miss Edna Keurstein has been a guest of the Misses Agnes and Marie Quirk.

John K. Smaller spent Tuesday evening with Mr. and Mrs. Fred Yorks.

William Thompson was in Albany on Sunday.

Little Jean Ford is ill at her home.

Mr. and Mrs. H. DuBois and daughter entertained out-of-town guests over the week end.

Mrs. Abram P. LeFever gave a luncheon last Wednesday.

Mrs. Josiah P. LeFever entertained at cards on Saturday.

George Ozies was operated upon in the City of Kingston Hospital Monday.

Mrs. Mary F. Stahl entertained at luncheon Tuesday.

Prof. C. C. Ward delivered an address at the institute in Monticello Thursday.

Thomas Van Duser of Ellenville was in this vicinity on business Friday.

Harry Quick has been visiting friends in Gardiner the past week. Mr. and Mrs. R. Klie entertained guests over the week end.

Mrs. Oscar Southard and Little daughter were in Poughkeepsie on Saturday.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Newkirk have been spending a few days out of town.

Mrs. DeWitt C. Seward entertained at cards Tuesday evening.

Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Smith and daughter of Hewitt, Long Island, former residents of this town, have moved to New Paltz again, as Mr. Smith is connected with the Central Hudson Company.

Mrs. Tubbs of Shantstown, is to be presented by the Obliville players at the New Paltz Reformed Church on Monday, November 26, at 7:30 p. m. It is a very good play, appropriate to the season, and the splendid acting furnishes pathos, romance and laughs aplenty. The proceeds of their performance will be for the Obliville Chapel and the newly organized Junior League for Service. At the Dutch Arms meeting Tuesday night, November 13, M. Matieson

Trapping for Furs In Adirondacks

Saratoga Lake, N. Y., Nov. 21 (AP).—Adirondack trappers have started their winter work along scores of trap lines throughout the mountains. The season on rabbit, mink, skunk and raccoon having opened on Saturday, November 10.

Despite the network of highways now threading all sections of the Adirondacks and the number of people who visit the mountain region yearly, there still is a large quantity of fur taken each winter in the state's great playground. It is probable that but few persons in the state outside the mountain counties realize that the annual fur take in the Adirondacks frequently reaches a value of $1,500,000. Trapping, despite the encroachments of civilization, continues to be one of the most important factors in the business life of the mountains.

Scores of men are engaged in following trap lines, some of which are so long that it is necessary for the trapper to have a shelter in which to sleep when darkness overtakes them many miles from their base camp. In a mountain region where the mercury drops to 40 degrees below zero on winter nights these shelters are essential. The yield of a trap line frequently runs up to several hundred dollars in a season, particularly if the trapper has the rare good fortune to take a fisher or two, or perhaps two or three otters. Some of the more numerous of the Adirondack pelts have increased greatly in value in recent years. There was a time when every back driver and delivery man in this and other Adirondack resorts wore acoon skin coat, purchased in those days for the price of a good cloth overcoat. Now, raccoon coats of no better quality are worth hundreds of dollars. A similar increase in value has been true of other furs taken in these mountains.

The fur-bearing animals of the Adirondacks are holding their own because they are given protection for the greater part of the year, and because the State Conservation Department has practically succeeded in abolishing illegal trapping and hunting.

One of the most beautiful and valuable of the Adirondack fur bearers, the red fox, receives no protection but actually appears to be increasing in numbers. Hundreds of fox pelts are sent out of this and other Adirondack villages each winter. Experts from some of the largest fur houses in the world assert that Essex county is the most productive red fox country in the United States. Not only are Essex county foxes noted for their beautiful pelts and tails, but also for size, some of the animals having reached record proportions.

Fur buyers in this section before spring will have paid trappers of the Adirondacks thousands of dollars and will have shipped out hundreds of pelts.

Planes "On Time"

New York (AP).—One of several flies buzzing in the oilment aircraft manufacturers have applied in an effort to ease sales resistance through installment payment selling appears to be in covering losses incurred when the new owner "washes out" in early attempts to land. Finance companies, which add 11 per cent to the purchase price, are reported to be solving this problem through insurance. The manufacturer, who receives 40 per cent down payment, has less to worry about.

GAS BUGGIES—This Way Out.

AFTER CAREFULLY DRESSING JUNIOR IN HIS SUNDAY BEST, HE, FEELING VERY IMPORTANT, ARRIVED AT THE EDITOR'S OFFICE TO DICTATE THE TERMS OF JUNIOR'S CONTRACT FOR CARRYING A PAPER ROUTE.

SORRY, BUT THE EDITOR SAYS HE'S VERY BUSY TODAY. IF YOU COULD COME BACK...

MY TIME IS VALUABLE, TOO. TELL HIM THIS IS A MATTER OF THE UTMOST IMPORTANCE CONCERNING THE FUTURE OF THE PAPER, AND I CAN'T CALL AGAIN!!

I'M FLAT, TOO. I WAS GOING TO ASK YOU FOR A TOUCH!

THAT'S THE IDEA! JUNIOR WILL TAKE THE ROUTE PROVIDING HE GETS A CONTRACT COVERING ALL THE POINTS I OUTLINED.

I SEE... YOU WISH TO PROTECT YOUR NEPHEW. WELL, THAT'S A MATTER OUTSIDE MY JURISDICTION. THE CIRCULATION MANAGER HANDLES THOSE THINGS.

OUR POLICY IS TO GIVE EVERY EMPLOYEE AN EVEN BREAK. IF I GAVE YOUR NEPHEW A CONTRACT, I'D BE GOING OVER THE CIRCULATION MANAGER'S HEAD, AND THAT WOULDN'T BE FAIR.

CERTAINLY NOT, SIR. JUNIOR WANTS NO FAVORS. MY MISTAKE, SIR, I'LL SEE THE CIRCULATION MANAGER. THANK YOU, SIR.

My Name is Birdie.

At twenty she was "turtle dove." At twenty-five a wren. A partridge plump at thirty-five. And now she's just a hen.

A young fellow braced up to a friend the other day and said: "Old top, I'm just full of pep." The other looked him over and replied: "Maybe so, but it smells more like corn liquor to me."

The Office Grouch defines a "hick town" as a place where a common crook is just a common crook instead of a "master criminal."

"What is the point at issue in the case of Jaggs vs. Henderson which has been dragging through the courts so long?"

"The trouble began over the ownership of a dog. The litigation has been going on for six years and has cost the parties $2,000 so far."

"Who will get the dog eventually, do you think?"

"The dog?" Oh, he died early in the second year.

One should always be appropriately dressed for dinner, and how does one dress for blueberry pie?

Our idea of the tactful hostess is the lady who, when a guest accidentally knocks over the salt cellar, kicks the legs from under the table and jerks the chandelier out of the ceiling to keep the offender from feeling embarrassed.

Burdens either strengthen shoulders or break backs.

Ask me another: Is it possible to step directly in front of a moving train and not get killed?

Answer: Yes, if the train is backing up.

Omit Volume of Sales from Ticker

New York Stock Exchange Tickers to Carry Only Prices Except at Opening of the Market—Increased Business Necessitates Change.

New York, Nov. 21 (AP).—In an effort to keep pace with record-breaking "Hoover market" the New York Stock Exchange, beginning tomorrow, will drop from the ticker all sales volume, except at the opening.

This revolutionary action was decided upon when yesterday's tape at the close of the market was two hours and 44 minutes behind.

By carrying only the prices on sales it is believed the ticker can be speeded up from 25 to 50 per cent. Total sales of individual stocks will be given to Press Associations and newspapers two or three times daily. Total sales yesterday reached 6,511,900 shares in contrast to the previous high of 6,714,000 made last Friday.

Attracted by the booming market hundreds of visitors have been thronging to the financial district daily, swelling the crowds of employees and traders and straining the restaurants and customers' rooms of brokerage offices to capacity. Many brokerage offices have removed the chairs from their customers' rooms and those that remain are generally held by one person all day—the one who arrived first in the morning. Despite this the rooms have been jammed almost to the point of suffocation.

Restaurants have hired extra help in an effort to meet the demand but their floor space being limited they have been unable to install more tables or chairs and many patrons have been forced to eat standing. Whole suites and floors of hotels have been taken by brokerage firms for their employees who do not wish to waste the time going to and from their homes. The lights in Wall Street burn all night, clerical forces working extra hours in relays in an effort to catch up with the bookkeeping necessary to keep their firms' accounts up with the market.

From many quarters comes a demand for a Saturday closing of the Exchange to allow brokerage employees a chance to catch their breath. This action was resorted to last spring when the volume of trading was much less than it is at the present time. So far the Exchange governors have given no indication that they intend to grant the request. Most of the wire facilities taken on a six-day basis, it was pointed out, and many firms dislike to pay high tolls on an idle wire and oppose any more holidays.

WEST SHOKAN

West Shokan, Nov. 21.—A Thanksgiving service will be held at the Baptist Church Sunday afternoon next at 2:45 o'clock. A cordial invitation is extended to all.

The masquerade at the hall on Saturday night was very well attended and a fine time had by all.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Snyder and daughters, Betty and Jane, also Horace Snyder, were very pleasantly entertained at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Donahue of Krumville on Sunday.

The hunting season guests at the Maple Dell Farm have departed for their homes in various sections of the state.

Tilden Bell purchased a fine work horse at the Steen auction at Samsville on Saturday.

The stage is all set for the annual I. O. O. F. oyster supper at Tongore on Thanksgiving eve.

The work of cleaning up the wrecked bridge at Tongore has been started by the contractor who is to build the new bridge.

Old school Baptist meeting was held at Bushkill school house on Saturday.

The condition of Alfred Bell, who broke his leg some time ago is progressing favorably.

John Hewkuss has greatly improved the appearance of his property by the very attractive manner in which he has graded the lawn.

Mrs. Alvina Hanson, who is visiting at Mrs. Watson Bishop's, was a guest at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Tilden Bell on Sunday.

Quite a number of fur buyers are making their annual rounds. Evidently there are more buyers than fur.

E. C. Burgher was one of the lucky hunters and captured a large buck on Wednesday.

The era of Hoover prosperity is evidenced at the Fair View Farm on West Shokan Heights, Hesley and Son having made extensive improvements and alterations to the large wagon house remodeling it into a modern garage of four car capacity.

That industrious society, known as the Ladies' Aid is holding on Wednesday an all-day's quilting bee at the home of Mrs. Ernestus North.

Mrs. Cora Winnie of Delhi accompanied by several members of the family visited the old home town on Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Sylvester Jones were Kingston visitors on Friday.

John Jordan accompanied by E. E. Davis made a business trip to Kingston on Friday.

Michael Dwyer is having his out-buildings re-shingled. Sylvester Jones is doing the work.

The rain on Monday was indeed welcome as streams and wells are very low, besides the ground has been so dry as to make ploughing almost impossible.

A number of local Masons attended Kingston Lodge, No. 10, on Tuesday evening and witnessed the conferring of the degree of Master Mason on a class of candidates.

The condition of Mrs. Lucia Miller of Brodhead, who recently suffered a paralytic stroke, remains about the same.

Ira Burgher of Brodhead was briefly engaged in sawing wood on Wednesday of last week.

William Jones is engaged in building an outside entrance to his cellar.

One advantage of living in a small town is that, like a one-ring circus, if you watch closely you can see all that goes on.

Mr. and Mrs. M. Christiana and Alta Cross and daughters spent the week end with Mr. and Mrs. Sherman at Stone Ridge.

Mr. and Mrs. Cooley are entertaining company from out of town.

BATTERY A DISCONTINUES SUNDAY MORNING DRILLS

Battery A, First Battalion, 156th Field Artillery, has discontinued Sunday morning drills and for the remainder of the cold weather will drill Monday nights, starting December 3, in the armory. The artillerymen have been drilling at the battalion stables on Manor avenue every Sunday morning for some time and all members enjoyed the outdoor practice. Of course the discontinuance of the Sunday drills will not interfere with horseback riding, which may be enjoyed by members of good standing in Battery A, Sunday afternoons.

JOYCE-SCHIRICK POST CARD PARTY A SUCCESS

One of the most successful card parties ever held in Kingston was sponsored Monday night by Joyce-Schirick Post, Veterans of Foreign Wars, for so many turned out to enjoy the party that a number of players had to be regretfully turned away from the vets' home at 22-37 East Chestnut street. However, another card party will be held on Monday evening, December 3, when the veterans will have several more rooms fixed up in which games may be enjoyed.

The excellent way in which the Veterans of Foreign Wars considered high scorers and the quality of the refreshments they served pleased all who attended Monday's party. These veterans will characterize the one to be held at the post rooms on December 3, and members will see that no player is provided for all card players. The attendance is expected to excel that of Monday.

Members of Joyce-Schirick Post are reminded that the regular monthly meeting will be held Thursday evening, November 22. All hands are expected to be on deck early for the business session. The aid of every Veteran of Foreign Wars is needed to help in the many activities planned for the future. Those who attend the meeting will be served with delightful refreshments and enjoy a splendid social time. Members who have application blanks filled out are urged to present them at the meeting Thursday.

GRAHAMSVILLE

Grahamsville, Nov. 21.—Mr. and Mrs. Earl Moore spent Sunday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. M. Donivan on Rocky Hill.

Mrs. Luduska Barkley is seriously ill.

George Gerton purchased a cow of Nathan Donivan recently.

The bridge jobbers have their bridges nearly completed and the suits men have their state road repair completed. They have all been busy since the flood of August 26.

Butchering is the order of the day. Everyone seems to be eating sausage and pancakes.

Benjamin Hill's and Willis Ryan's pages both were run over and killed by cars last week. Dogs as well as people have a poor chance for lives on the state highway now days.

Nathan Donivan sold a horse Carson York, Saturday.

James B. Smith is improving slowly.

Mr. and Mrs. Jackson Moorebeck, Ellenville spent Sunday with former's parents, Mr. and Mrs. E. Moorebeck, here.

Leo Buckshany of Ellenville called on friends here Friday.

Miss Ruth Decker is assisting in the household duties in the Smith home.

It's in the Cards.

New York (AP).—Greeting card dealers say the business of guessing the public taste is a tough proposition. Last year they laid in stock of Christmas cards decorated with pictures of stage coaches and pictures suddenly turned its favor to ship cards and the public, who still "ship-minded", has disclosed fondness for airplanes.

CHRYSLER

Demanded everywhere for superior value that Original Style and Sparkling Performance Give

Chrysler—with the new style that re-styles all motor cars—today more than ever serves as a pattern to improve the standards of an industry.

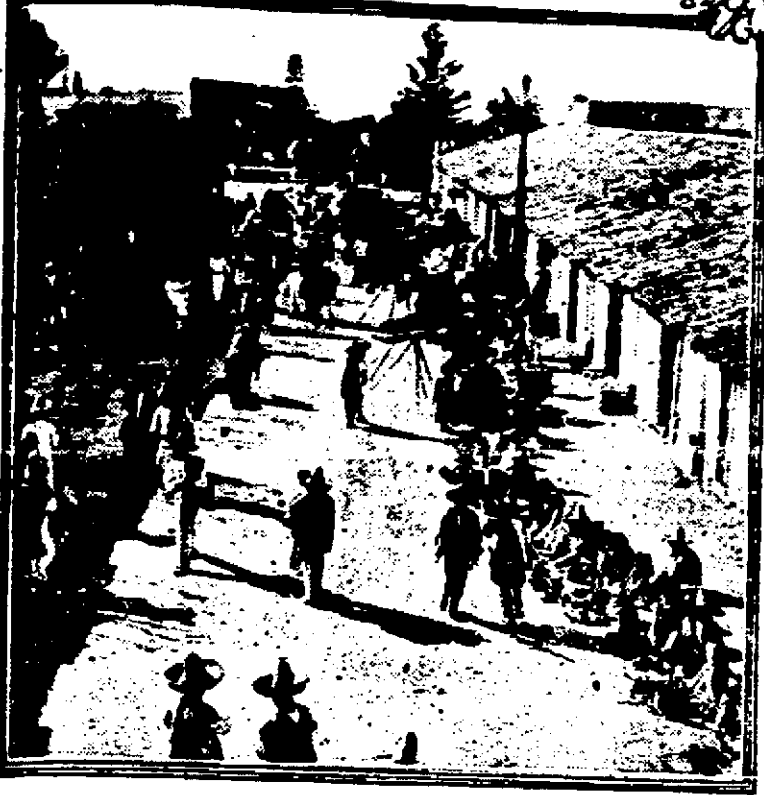

The new Chryslers are not only individual and unique—they are original, owing nothing to designs offered by others here or abroad.

They are graceful and pleasing—providing ample room and comfort without oversize and bulk.

In power, acceleration, safety and ease of control, today's Chryslers excel even the earliest Chryslers.

Sun Child of the Sierras

Street Market in Cuernavaca

(Prepared by the National Geographic Society, Washington, D. C.)

THROUGH the many ages of travel few spots of the world have remained unchanged in the well-trodden paths of civilization; but Cuernavaca, the Sun Child of the Sierras, lies today in the little Mexican valley of the same name well preserved in its natural beauty since the time of Cuauhnahuac, when the ancient builders wrote their history in hieroglyphics.

The name Cuernavaca, meaning "born of the cow" in Spanish, is probably a contraction of Cuauhnahuac, the more poetic Aztec term, meaning "near the mountain," and tradition tells us that it was applied by the Spanish during the days of the Conquest, in April, 1521.

Accruing the grandeur of the distant snow-capped mountains, Popocatepetl and Iztaccihuatl, the town is situated on the edge of the Sierras, among the foothills of the Sierras. Hemmed in on every side by lofty peaks which no storm can surmount, and having an altitude of nearly 5,000 feet, which tempers the heat of a tropical sun, Cuernavaca enjoys an equable climate at all seasons of the year.

It is little wonder, then, that the Aztecs, the Montezumas, the great Conquistador, Cortez, the unfortunate Emperor Maximilian and his erstwhile Empress Carlotta sought this ideal retreat and found peace, rest, and sunshine.

There is no other 75-mile trip in the three Americas so full of charm as that from Mexico City to Cuernavaca. The four hours required to make the journey pass only too quickly as the train winds its way through a veritable wonderland. Chapultepec, Molino del Rey, Contreras, Monte de las Cruces, and many other places of historic interest are passed, and upon reaching La Cima, the highest point on the route, at an elevation of about 10,000 feet, a magnificent view of the fertile Valley of Cuernavaca is unfolded below. Plantations of sugarcane and coffee, fields of rice and bananas, and orchards of lemon, orange, and mango trees can be seen as far as the eye can reach.

Wild Ride to the Village.

Upon arrival at the railway station a number of rickety carriages will be found in waiting, and, after a bit of good-natured chaffing, a bargain is made with one of the "cocheros" to drive you to the village, about a mile distant. As the frail little conveyance is driven along the roadway, across the bridge, and then, swaying to and fro, over the rough cobbles of the narrow, crooked streets of the village, you will experience a ride not soon forgotten. Tying in its excitement with a chariot race of medieval times, a contest between the cocheros is soon on in earnest. The houses of the village, which are built without a vestige of symmetry or regularity, appear to be toppling over each other as the driver frantically strives to reach the hotel ahead of his rivals. Perhaps he might be contemplating an extra tip for his cleverness if he wins the race, for you will then be able to secure a first choice of rooms; but by what miracle has destruction of the entire outfit been averted will ever remain a mystery to you.

The town is located on a thickly wooded hill between two deep barrancas and surrounded by a number of precipitous gorges, which make it by nature almost inaccessible. Crossing these, however, are several notable bridges. From the Puente del Diablo (Bridge of the Devil) an excellent view can be had of one of the gorges and the two great springs, Ojos de Guadalupe (Eyes of the Little Guadalupe), which have been highly treasured by the natives for centuries. Quite near are numberless other springs and mountain streams, which have been used and form what is known as the municipal water works. So great is the supply of water and so constant and thorough has been its distribution that the entire community has been converted into a rich grove of trees and innumerable gardens.

Nature as been most lavish in her gifts to Cuernavaca. Here time or money counts for little except the peace, comfort, and happiness it will bring.

Every home, however humble, has its little patio and a wealth of sunshine and flowers. The domestic life is ideal. A very pretty custom obtains on Sunday evenings and festivals, on which occasions the village maidens promenade around the plaza. They usually take the inside turn, strolling in one direction, while the "novios," or village beaux, take the outside turn, in an opposite direction, and in this manner they face each other at all times.

Where Cortez Resided.

The Cortez palace, built in 1531, where the patriot Morelos was confined as a prisoner of war, and which is now used as the capital of the state of Morelos; and the cathedral, built in 1535, whose tower contains a clock from the cathedral of Segovia, bear silent testimony to the noble and quiet manner in which Hernando Cortez spent his life after the conquest. He made Cuernavaca his residence and personally managed the vast estates in the vicinity which had been granted by him by Charles V of Spain.

During the second empire Maximilian and his consort, Carlotta, made Cuernavaca the summer capital of their court, and spent the few tranquil and happy days of a stormy career at their country residence, Otilo, in the suburbs of the town. They also paid frequent visits to the Borda gardens.

These gardens of world-wide fame were laid out by Don Jose de la Borda in 1762 with the idea of reproducing, on a grander scale, the gardens of Versailles. In order faithfully to carry out his plans, he sent to France for landscape gardeners and expended over a million dollars in the work. The natural springs on the estate were transformed into lakelets, cascades, and luxurious baths. Sloping terraces, bowers and trellises of roses, groves of laurel and mango, costly fountains and vases, casinos and pavilions, formed part of the adornment. Birds of gorgeous plumage made their nests and sang in the trees that shaded the fern-lined walks. Plants and flowers of the rarest varieties were brought from all parts of the world and arranged with the most artistic skill, and it has been aptly said that even today the place lacks but an apple tree to convince the visitor that it might have been the original Garden of Eden.

Crooked Streets, Quaint Shops.

The Morelos baths, with their gardens of roses and tropical plants, remind the traveler of a bit of Granada. Then there are the gardens of the old bishop's palace, which faithfully typify a courtyard of the Middle Ages. Like Boston, the streets of the town appear to have been laid out by the cows. The Calle Nacional, the principal street, with its quaint shops, offers many attractions to the lover of antiquities. There are also a number of interesting public buildings, including the palace of the governor, the theater, which also contains the public library—the literary institute, the post and telegraph offices, the barracks, and a number of public schools, hospitals, and charitable institutions.

It appears to matter little whether buildings are old or new in Cuernavaca. They have all taken on the mellow coloring of antiquity and harmonize with surrounding nature.

About seven miles from Cuernavaca is the Indian village of Jaltipac, where some of their mysterious customs are still observed. The place has the appearance of a stage setting and the natives of the village are like the characters in a play. Each year a strange feast is celebrated.

How these people have preserved their ancient customs through such long periods of time is unexplained. They seem to be in a world by themselves and care little about the outside.

Central Broadway Holiday Lighting

Central Business Association Tuesday Evening Decided to Have Central Broadway Properly Illuminated for Holiday Season.

At the meeting and dinner of the members of the Central Business Association held Tuesday evening at the Hotel Elbier, it was decided to have central Broadway adequately illuminated and decorated for the Christmas holiday season. A huge Christmas tree will also be erected, probably near the Central Post Office corner. A committee was appointed, headed by Chester Miller, to have charge of the Christmas decorations along central Broadway.

Max L. Reben, of the industrial committee, reported he had interviewed an organization in New York city which was seeking new quarters. What was wanted were suitable factory buildings containing from 50,000 to 200,000 square feet of space. There were no such buildings available at the present time but he believed that if such buildings could be erected by Kingston capital they would be promptly rented.

The association now has a paid up membership of 107 and a balance of more than $1,300 in the bank, according to the report of Treasurer William O'Reilly.

A communication was read urging that the association go on record as favoring a tariff on imported brick. The petition enclosed was signed by the members present and will be forwarded to United States Senators Copeland and Wager and to Congressman Harcourt J. Pratt.

Dr. Morton Low, president of the association, gave a brief report showing the activities of the association during the past year, and J. Edward Conway, chairman of the legislative committee, reported on what had been accomplished by the committee.

The association also went on record as approving the amending of the zoning ordinance to allow the Manhattan Shirt Company to enlarge its plant on Hoffman street.

ACTIVITIES AT THE CHURCH OF THE COMFORTER

A fine "Church Bulletin" purchased from the Ashtabula Sign Co. has been placed upon the front of the church. The bulletin is a gift of some of the young men of the church. At night it will be lighted by electricity. The church appreciates this gift from these young men.

The Home Visitation Evangelism Campaign held last week was a great success. Already about seventy have signed cards for membership in the church with the probability that there will be a few others. Over ninety per cent of these are adult people. The pastor hopes that all who have signed their intention to join the church will endeavor to be present at one or both of the preaching services next Sunday. Plans are being made to receive the new members at the next communion service, Sunday, December 2nd.

Next Sunday night the choir under the direction of Miss Cowley will give the beautiful Thanksgiving Cantata "Harvest Cantata" by Garrett. The public is cordially invited to attend and enjoy this musical treat.

The Woman's Missionary society held their monthly meeting in the Church Hall Friday afternoon, November 16th. A large number attended. The devotional service was conducted by Mrs. James Allen Wood. Miss Cowley the soloist of the church sang a solo that was enjoyed by everyone. Mrs. Alfred Van Duren of New

Market for Fruits And Vegetables

New York, Nov. 21 (P.)—(State Department of Agriculture).

Celery of fancy quality met a ready sale today at a slight price advance in a stronger market. Arrivals were moderate. Western New York celery in the rough, packed in two-thirds crates wholesaled at $3.50 to $3.55, occasionally $3.75 on the good to fancy and $1.50 to $2.50 on the poor to ordinary. Pacific coast celery in large crates brought $4.50 to $5.50.

Receipts of western New York Kieffer pears were light. The market ruled steady with trading fairly good, particularly on large fruit. Jobbing sales on No. 1 fruit were consummated at $1.37 1/2 to $1.75 a bushel basket.

Price changes on state barreled and basket apples were few and small, especially on fancy fruit. The demand was moderate and the tone of the market unchanged.

The output of apples for the entire country was sharply curtailed. The combined shipments of eastern and western apples totalled 4,290 cars during the preceding week, which was 1,500 less than the week before but 500 cars more than the corresponding week last season.

Supplies of western New York Concord grapes were very limited. The market was steady and values were sustained without much difficulty. Twelve quart baskets of Concord peddled out at chiefly 50 cents, occasionally 55 cents.

The market for white potatoes continued inactive owing to the limited buying. Supplies on hand at most terminals in New York city and Brooklyn were fairly liberal. Bulk round white potatoes from the western part of the state realized chiefly $2 per 180 pounds while the best Green Mountains from Maine brought mainly $2.25, occasionally $2.35.

Of the 321 cars of potatoes received on the local market during the previous week, Maine contributed 149, Long Island 137 and upstate New York only 9. The remainder was drawn from five states and Canada.

Merchandise in Block Store Sold

Edward Vlughich of Newark, N. J., on Tuesday afternoon purchased the stock of merchandise in the dry goods store at 36 Broadway, conducted for many years by the late Joseph Block. Since Mr. Block's death the store has been kept open and business continued by his employees. It is understood that the new owner will shortly hold a sale of the stock, but will not continue the business. The store was closed today. Mr. Vlughich after taking over the store late Tuesday afternoon returned to Newark and it was impossible to ascertain from him what his plans were. The store is located in the building owned by Max Hazen.

Codwise Removes Offices.

City Engineer G. Wallace Codwise today moved his office from 63 John street to the Kingston Opera House building on Fair street, where he will occupy rooms 21 and 22. Mr. Codwise will retain the same telephone connections at his new office.

Rochele, N. Y., gave a very interesting and inspiring talk on missions, making the members of the society feel that the work they are doing is more worth while than ever. A social time followed and light refreshments were served by several of the ladies of which Mrs. Frank Barnum was chairlady.

Aldermen Held A Busy Session

Reject Three Claims and Approve One—Want Water Main Extended in North Roadcut—Seek Action From City Board.

Believing that the resolutions introduced at the meetings of the common council are not receiving proper attention from the various city boards to whom they are referred, the aldermen Tuesday evening voted on two resolutions as being unanimously in favor of them before they were referred, one to the board of public works and the other to the water board.

Alderman O'Reilly of the Ninth ward said that for some time he had been endeavoring to have the board of public works install an arc light at West O'Reilly street and Mary's avenue, but without success. He then introduced a resolution that the common council go on record as approving the placing of the arc light. It was unanimously adopted and referred to the board of public works.

The same action was taken on the resolution introduced by Alderman Molyneux of the Fourth ward that the water main be extended from Kingston street to Second avenue, which was referred to the water board.

Other resolutions introduced and referred to the board of public works were: By Alderman Haines, that an arc light be placed at Wrentham street and Kiersted Lane, and by Alderman Molyneux, that an incandescent light be placed on Newkirk avenue near the DeGraff residence.

The finance, ways and means committee on the recommendation of the corporation counsel approved the claim of Mrs. Charles A. Warren for damages to her flower garden at her home, 284 Clinton avenue, and on motion the claim of $200 was ordered paid.

The same committee also reported that on the recommendation of the corporation counsel it had rejected the claims of Levi DuMont of 24 Liberty street for a bill for $27.56 for cleaning sewer; Peter Kullman of 60 West Pierpont street for a plumber's bill for $12.54 for building a shut-off to sewer, and Thomas A. Nolan of 54 Henry street for a plumber's bill for $24.95 for damages to sewer.

Other matters taken up by the council will be found elsewhere.

ELEANOR GUNN ON FASHIONS

RECOUNTING SOME OF THE NEWER FASHION BLESSINGS.

New York.—One of the several causes for the existing would seem to be the breadth of choice. Fashion permits her followers. There are less than the usual number of "fashions" in which to become entangled. Every type is in a sense a law unto itself.

Without a doubt individual arrangements of gown or growing hair make for interest. The return of evening addresses, tends to enhance the general effect of elaboration, greatly intensified by earrings which are nothing if not spectacular, and of jewels, genuine or otherwise, which are striking.

Added to all this are the several silhouettes which contradict yet curiously enough do not seem to conflict. There has entered the social scene a type of dress known as "the Sunday night frock"—a greatly glorified afternoon gown, and a substitute for Sundays, of the extremely low décolletées in which women go through these socially crammed weeks. The almost backless gown is the rule and not the exception.

The entrance of gaily colored slippers seems a step in the right direction. Most of us are weary of plain silver and gold slippers. There must, of course, be an obvious reason for the choice of a bright slipper. It must be linked with some other costume detail and is often chosen to reflect the lining, or texture of the skirt, the extraordinary as it seems with skirts are often lined or faced.

The wrap of chiffon, knotted about the wrist and floating from the shoulder of one's partner in the dance, may also signal to the floor, so that one may note how carefully satin or crepe de Chine slippers have been matched to it.

The question of whether or not to affect long gloves for evening seems to remain unanswered. Opinions are divided in the matter. Many formally attired women have reverted to long white gloves, and to short white gloves, instead of beige ones for afternoon. The majority, even among the better dressed prefer to go ungloved to opera, play and dance.

Evening scarfs are often chosen in preference to the more spectacular cocktail jackets. Artificial flowers are less important than for several seasons, and fans of several kinds have again appeared. White furs have the call for evening and frequently trim black velvet coats. Furs in bow and bow effects and great standing collars are the accepted types.

OUR DAILY PATTERNS.

A Stylish Daytime Frock.

6276. This model features the side closing, and a smart revers trimming at the line of closing. A flare skirt, a becoming sleeve and a high, straight collar complete a simple attractive design. The dress will develop well in printed velvet silk, Canton crepe, satin, wool georgette or in novelty wools. As pictured a woolen weave in beige and mottled brown was chosen, with satin for facings on revers, cuffs and belt. Printed velvet with facings of crepe is also attractive.

The pattern is cut in six sizes: 34, 36, 38, 40, 42 and 44 inches bust measure. To make the dress in a 38-inch size will require 3½ yards of 39-inch material together with ¾ yard of contrasting material for facings on revers, cuffs and belt. The underbody requires 1 yard of 32-inch material. The width of the skirt at the lower edge with fullness extended is 1½ yard.

A pattern of this illustration mailed to any address on receipt of 12c in coin or stamps by the Pattern Department, The Freeman, Kingston, N. Y. Be sure to state the size wanted.

Fashion Book Notice.

Send 15c in coin or stamps to The Freeman for our up-to-date Fall and Winter 1928 Book of Fashions showing color plates, and containing 500 designs of ladies' misses' and children's patterns, a concise and comprehensive article on dressmaking, also some points for the needle (illustrating 30 of the various simple stitches), all valuable hints to the home dressmaker.

Chiffon Wrap for Moderate Weather

Light Covering in Printed, Plain Fabrics, Gay With Embroidery.

When those who dash to town to see new plays or to dance to the latest music stop the hotel, the chiffon wrap is just the thing to wear over the fashionable new evening dresses. Both plain and printed fabrics are used in models of charm and originality. Most of the chiffon wraps are created of printed patterns, as they lend the most distinct air of individuality.

The tiered cape is decidedly effective in chiffon. Its softness stress the feminine mode and its fluttering tiers accentuate the grace of the wrap. The tiers are generally folded into a neck which may have ribbons or velvet to bestow an effective decorative spirit at the face. Loops of the ribbon prove an attractive feature, too.

An even simpler design which is successful in both plain and figured chiffons is one consisting of a straight, unlined piece gathered to a deep, fitted shoulder yoke. The hemline is made effective by the deep points which are cut into the hemline.

Banded embroidery is a fascinating decoration on the plain chiffons in either delicate pastels or in vivid shades. White is particularly beautiful when embroidered in field flowers in banded designs or in massed floral designs using delicate pastel tints. Beige done in brown, silver and black, white in black, mauve in blue and green, gray in rose and red are just a few of the startlingly effective combinations.

Loretta Young, the motion picture actress, seen in "The Head Man," chooses a charming ensemble effect and wears orchid chiffon in a cape and dress smartly trimmed with silver lace.

Flashes of Fashion of Interest to All Women

Jenny revives the satin coat, heavily furled.

An attempt to reinstate beaded effects is cited.

Thin furs handled as fabrics have the lead for coats.

Hatters' plush with felt and alone is important for millinery.

Seed pearls have returned to favor and with them pearls of other sorts.

Brown ranks high as a street color, and black remains par excellence for evening.

The short brocaded jacket of Persian inspiration is one of the new style interests.

An interesting high light of the Paris openings was that brunettes had largely replaced blondes.

The molded silhouette, including princess effects, has returned with other once familiar types.

Black velvet dresses with telling touches of ecru and other tinted laces strike a note of elegance.

That revealing the eyebrows and forehead—forming a frame for the face, in fact—have been revived.

Hip Yoke Popular in All Fields of Dress

The hip yoke has come very quietly to the forefront of fashion. So quietly in fact that we hardly know it is here. And it appears to be firmly entrenched in every phase of the mode from lingerie to sportswear. There are wide yokes and straight yokes; yokes that unsundered as girdles. The hip yoke has even invaded the field of formal evening wear. In a very elegant version to be sure, but still there and extremely smart.

The woman who used to shudder at the thought of wearing any sort of hip yoke will be delighted to see what has become of her nightmare. All types of figures can look attractive in at least one variety of yoke—and on your wardrobe shopping tour it would be wise to pause before purchasing until you have seen at least half a dozen varieties.

Eleanor Gunn Says

The gift of something to wear is deserving of immediate attention and covers a wide range of lovely things.

Handbags, usually mounted but remarkable for highly ornamental clasp effect, many of which are novel and of metal.

Handkerchiefs among which are the men's size chiffon types lace cornered or monogrammed and to be worn tied about the wrist.

Novelty stockings, ranging from open mesh evening stockings to novelty lisle and silk and wool hose for sports. Beecham is one of the newest shades for street wear.

Skiing hose are very gay and have double cuffs, one at knee the other at ankle.

There is also the acceptable gift of sweater and hose to match. Modernistic designs are smartest in slip-overs.

A muff is again a welcome gift—these also come in sets including cravat and fur hat.

Belts, in many colors fabrics and widths, with and without buckles and slides are smart; also slipper buckles.

Brocaded and other novelty mules, fur or feather trimmed, are another suggestion.

Pendant earrings, crystals, preferable and all manner of necklaces, bracelets and chains are in the just-what-I-wanted class.

CREEK LOCKS.

Creek Locks, Nov. 21.—Mrs. Martha Freese was very appreciably surprised by a Sparrow radio set presented to her as a birthday gift by her daughter, Beatrice. Fred Smith installed it.

Mr. and Mrs. Jacob Weimar and Timothy Regan spent a most delightful evening with Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Kostek last Tuesday evening. The evening was spent in listening to the radio and before they left delicious refreshments were served.

Mrs. Fred Kuriger and her three daughters of Kingston were pleasantly entertained at the "Idle Hour" on Wednesday evening.

William Engleman and Jacob Weimar spent Wednesday evening with Tim Regan.

Oscar Hahn, who was employed in New York, gave up his position to come up here to be with his family. He has accepted a position with the Canfield Supply Company.

Miss Beatrice Freese spent Monday afternoon with Mrs. L. C. Terhune of Bloomington.

Mr. and Mrs. John Coutant and little daughter, Margie, of Hoboken, N. J., arrived her Thursday to spend a few weeks with their mother, Mrs. Mary Coutant, and sister, Nellie.

Mr. Coutant left again on Friday. Katherine Clearwater, who has been ill and under the care of Dr. Van Gaasbeek of Kingston for several weeks, is rapidly improving.

Mrs. Hannah Haines and daughters, Florence and Louise, and son, Charles, spent Sunday afternoon with her sister, Mrs. Martha Freese.

The automobile owners of Creek Locks wish to thank the road commissioner, George LeFevre, for his thoughtfulness in putting several loads of sand on the steep hill leading to Bloomington.

Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Hofman, Mr. and Mrs. Jacob Weimar and Miss Gertrude Leim had an enjoyable auto trip on Sunday.

The many friends of James Walsh, who was operated on for appendicitis at the Margaretville Hospital a little over a week ago, will be glad to hear he is improving nicely.

Miss Beatrice Freese has accepted a position with Mrs. C. I. LeFevre, Sr. in Maple Hill.

The residents of Creek Locks wish to thank the Eddyville Volunteer Fire Department for their prompt action in responding to a call for help to put out a chimney fire at the residence of Mrs. Mary Mowle. If it had not been for them getting here so quickly it might have done considerable damage.

HURLEY.

Hurley, Nov. 21.—A very pleasant surprise party was given at the home of Mr. and Mrs. John Brink. About thirty of the young people were present. The evening was passed pleasantly with games and singing, followed by refreshments.

A birthday dinner was given Thursday evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Snyder in honor of their daughter, Nita. About a dozen close friends were present. A pleasant evening was spent and the guests departed extending Miss Snyder hearty congratulations and many wishes for more happy birthday anniversaries.

The Missionary Society will meet Wednesday afternoon at 2 o'clock at the home of Mrs. John Woolsey. Members are asked to attend prepared to sew. There will be a special Thanksgiving offering.

The regular weekly prayer meeting service will be held Thursday evening.

Sunday morning it is hoped there will be a large attendance at the service. The Rev. Henry Decker, pastor, has chosen as his theme, "The Spirit of Gratitude."

The regular Thanksgiving service will be held on Thanksgiving eve, Wednesday evening, at 7:30 o'clock, in the basement of the church. The usual offering will be taken for the benefit of the Industrial Home.

A Home Bureau meeting will be held in the basement of the church Thursday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock. A specialist from the College of Home Economics will give the second lesson in nutrition. It is hoped there will be a large attendance. Everybody is welcome.

W. H. Mason and sons, Fred and Ralph, of Rutherford, N. J., called on Miss Jane Hasbrouck Election Day.

Mrs. M. R. Wyckoff of Pleasant Plains is visiting her sister, Mrs. Abram Elmendorf.

Mrs. H. G. Smith is visiting her daughter, Mrs. James Davidson, of Swedesboro, N. J.

Simply Had to Do It

"I knew she was a sub-tle reader when I married her, Your Honor; but she was young, I loved her, and I imagined I could cure her. But it was not long before she showed symptoms of telling the stories of other movies she had seen while we were watching a film. I was kind to her, gave her the best of care, even offered to send her to a sanitarium; but she refused all efforts to aid her, and one night after we had returned from a movie, she began to tell me the story of the book on which the film had been based, explaining what changes had been made. And so, of course, I killed her."

"Through with the Ring" but still 100% fit

GENE TUNNEY may have put off the gloves for good. But he's too wise a man to give up the priceless habits of physical training that stood him in such good stead in his profession.

Just before his last fight, Tunney said:

"I started taking Nujol internally seven years ago. The first month Nujol brought remarkable changes in my physical condition. My elimination became active and normal. My appetite increased and a desire for intensive training was created. Since that time I have taken Nujol about five nights a week. I have regulated myself to the amount necessary to keep my elimination normal. I have found during my seven years' experience with Nujol that it is not habit-forming, or in any way unpleasant or harmful."

Nujol is not a medicine. It contains absolutely no medicine or drugs. It is simply a pure substance—perfected by the Nujol Laboratories, 26 Broadway, New York. It not only prevents an excess of body poisons from forming (we all have them) but aids in their removal. In sealed packages only. Buy a bottle of Nujol today.

"Have you the wealth of a sound mind, a strong body, and a pure soul? What great possessions are yours. May the gold within you be a blessing to all the world—you cannot be too lavish with it; keep giving it away; put it out at intervals and it will double its value in a short time."

SEASONABLE DISHES

IF WE do not make vegetables both edible and attractive we will have a sad lot to eat. Unless we conserve every bit of their food value and are familiar with their composition, we cannot develop it by cookery.

The really efficient cook wastes nothing, neither the vegetable itself, the water in which it is cooked, nor the parings or tops. The vast majority are far from being really efficient.

Scalloped Beans.
Butter a baking dish and add two cups of white sauce, or tomato sauce, four cups of cooked string beans, a little onion finely chopped. Cover with buttered crumbs and bake thirty minutes in a moderate oven.

Roulade de Boeuf.
Take a pound of cold roast beef, free from skin, bone and gristle; put it through a meat grinder with one-third of a pound of ham or bacon. Season lightly with salt and pepper. Add a tablespoonful of finely minced olives, a few drops of tabasco sauce, one teaspoonful of minced parsley, a grating of lemon peel and a pinch of nutmeg. Mix all together and add one-half cup of cooked macaroni cut into one-inch lengths and tossed in butter. Add two beaten eggs. Mix well and roll over with greased paper and bake in a well-greased baking pan in a moderate oven one-half hour. Serve with the following sauce: Add salt and pepper to a pint of tomatoes which have been put through a sieve. Add a tablespoonful of sugar, a tablespoonful of vinegar, a teaspoonful of onion juice, or one-half of a clove of garlic sliced. Cook until reduced in bulk and slightly thick.

How It Started

By JEAN NEWTON

"LIBRARY"

YOUR dictionary will tell you that "library" comes from the French "librairie," a bookseller's shop, derived from "librairie," a bookseller. But this is only the preamble to the story. In the First and Second centuries, A. D., there was great stimulation in Rome in the use of books, and to meet the increasing demands the booksellers conceived of a method of speedier production than had been possible with the old system of scribes copying one at a time. The enterprising dealers assembled a score or two of scribes, most of whom were well educated slaves, and had them all write at once at the dictation of one reader. So dozens of copies could be made in the time that had formerly produced but one.

The scribes who prepared the manuscripts were known as "librari," and since the copying which produced their wares, the name was applied also to the dealers in books. It is from this beginning that we have the word "library," its intermediate derivation being from the French "librairie," a bookseller's shop.

Unique Among Fish

The Australian lung fish, the air-breathing fish which is found in certain rivers in Queensland, is unique in the fish world, with its blunt head and body and uniform thickness from the back of the head to the flattened tail, although examples of lung fish are found in West Africa and the Amazon river.

Streamlining Cars
Would Double Speed,
New Tests Indicate

The 10-foot wind tunnel of the United States bureau of standards (above), scene of many scientific studies with airplane models, revealed the extraordinary part air resistance plays in limiting the speeds of modern automobiles. Two perfect scale models, resembling toys (lower left), were built for the tests carried on by Dr. H. L. Dryden (lower right).

By W. E. Berchtold
(Associated Press Automobile Editor)

Washington, (P.)—If automobiles were streamlined like airplanes they would double their present speeds. However, they would rival the futuristic designs of modern artists and probably would not be wanted by present day motorists.

Speeds of stock automobiles today, it has been learned through experiments carried on by the bureau of standards, are determined almost exclusively by the amount of resistance offered by the air through which they must pass.

Careful streamlining solved the problem of defeating air resistance in airplane construction, but a streamlined automobile with a pointed front and a long thin tail is beyond the average motorist's imagination.

It has been learned that the present-day automobile with a maximum speed of 50 miles an hour would have to have an engine eight times its present size and power to attain a speed of 100 miles an hour. Thus illustrates the enormous amount of speed sacrificed in automobiles because of present design fixed by popular taste and convention.

Dr. H. L. Dryden of the bureau of standards found in the course of his tests with perfect eighth scale models of a small car now on the market that at 40 miles an hour, eight extra horsepower would be necessary to overcome the air resistance of the full scale automobile. At 50 miles an hour, 15.7 extra horsepower would be required; at 60 miles, 27.2 horsepower and at 70 miles, 43.2 horsepower.

In carrying out the bureau of standards' project, Dr. Dryden used the wind tunnel which has proved an indispensable aid to the development of airplanes. The tests were made at the request of an American automobile manufacturer, who supplied two perfectly scaled models at a cost of $1,000 for the tests.

The wind tunnel is capable of stirring up an air stream or gale of any intensity from a few miles an hour to more than 100 miles an hour. The model is suspended in the tunnel so that the air forces can be studied and recorded on appropriate instruments which show the extra horsepower necessary to overcome air resistance in automobiles of present design.

Overcoming air resistance is a vital factor in the successful flight of airplanes, because without streamlining planes would not be able to maintain speeds sufficient to insure controlled flight. In automobiles however, the designer has bowed to the desires of the public for beauty of line and plenty of room, only to sacrifice speed and make necessary the use of larger engines and more gasoline.

It would take a brave designer or manufacturer to put a car on the market conforming to the lines which scientific investigation might reveal as most efficient. Conventional designs have become so rooted in the minds of the buying public that any departure would be doomed to almost certain failure. The tests are valuable, however, to learn how much speed is sacrificed and to make possible further study which may lead to development of some device to cut down air resistance without injuring the lines and beauty of the automobile.

The Folks Are Here!

Is Your Hearth Fire
Bright and Cheerful?

Thanksgiving comes during Indian summer—that delightfully undecided part of the year when autumn seems to pause and glance back regretfully at the passing summer before merging into the season of winds and snows. Families gather to give thanks together and to partake of the bounties of the harvest time. Perhaps it's too warm to start the furnace—but a gas heater, glowing in the fireplace, gives the right degree of cheer and warmth. It's a mellow warmth—a soothing warmth—a lazy warmth—just the place to doze and dream after the "feast of the year".

There's no fuss and trouble with a gas heater—no hauling in logs, no ashes, no cleaning up. Light a match and your hearth fire burns merrily—extinguished in a moment, if you wish. And so economical with gas!

Financial and Commercial

New York, Nov. 21 (AP).—Speculation in stocks continued at a frantic pace in today's market but the price movement displayed increasing irregularity. With trading demoralized by the long delays on the ticker, which was an hour late early this afternoon, there was a more general disposition to cut down long commitments on the part of large and small operators.

Radio was again a spectacular performer, soaring 21 points to a new high record at 379, or nearly 300 points above the year's low. Union Carbide, Pittsburgh Coal, National Biscuit, Keith-Albee-Orpheum Preferred, Wright Aeronautical, and Midland Steel Products Preferred sold 4 to 5 1/2 points higher.

Could Not Dispense With Hat or Gloves

Roosevelt's fondness for long walks in Rock Creek park during his Presidency is well known. Nothing pleased him so much as to drop companions along the road unable to keep up with him. If he thought anyone was too well dressed for an outing he would swim across a deep pool and everybody was compelled to follow. He was a great sport.

Walking one day with a party among whom was M. J. Jusserand, French ambassador, President Roosevelt proposed that they all go bathing in Rock Creek, without bathing suits, not far from the public highway (says General Scott). Jusserand waded in without any clothes except a pair of white kid gloves and a high silk hat. Roosevelt looked at him with astonishment for some time, but finally curiosity became too great and he had to ask the reason for the ambassador's costume. "Oh, Mr. President," Jusserand replied, "suppose some ladies should go by?"—Kansas City Times.

French Fire Law

According to French law, if two-thirds of the proprietors, representing one-half of the area, organize a fire-protection association, all other proprietors must join this association and pay their proportion in providing pumps and fire-fighting tools and all necessary fire protection work, says the New York Times.

Make Clothes-Pin Bag Out of Used Flour Bag

No special pattern is needed for making this useful clothespin bag. One can easily be cut out of wrapping paper folded so that the two sides will be alike. The only materials necessary are a used flour bag and three yards of twice bright-colored bias tape. The greatest depth of the apron is 17 inches, the greatest width, 10 inches. The top edge of the pockets, which is bound into the belt, measures 4 inches.

Useful Clothes-Pin Bag Made of Used Flour Bag.

The flour bag may be bought from the baker for a few cents. The stamping is taken out by covering it with hard or corking it in kerosene for a few hours and then washing out in lukewarm water. If one is making the apron for a shower gift or to be sold at a bazaar, some simple decorations, such as stitches pins worked in red outline stitch may be added. This work should of course be done before the apron is assembled. The curved edges of the pocket part of the apron are bound first. Then the two parts of the apron are bound together all the way round. The belt is added and may be finished with button and buttonhole instead of the ends.

Red Is Prominent in Paris' Fall Fashions

Red is given a stellar role in fall fashions. It rivals black, and shares honors with brown. Red, with blue, navy or brighter shade, has been listed among fashionable as something with which to conjure, and combinations in which red occur please all kinds of women.

Black is given the precedence over color for evening at most of the exclusive shops, and a special preference for nets may be reported from practically every style center. These net dresses follow the irregularities of the erstwhile popular chiffon gown, which is another way of saying that they are both long and full. Shirtings occur, with and without flairs and circular panels, and these shirtings are relied upon to indicate. If not outline, the form. Sheer velvet is a medium useful for this proceeding. It is best liked in black, red, and brown, but it is found in small all-over patterns involving some, if not all, of these tones and sometimes others.

Brown really lends for day wear, and the entire gamut of tones is brought into play.

Lace trims the daytime frock, being frequently chosen for the yoke, yokes having become again important. Lace cuff, collar and gilet effects, especially in twine, ash and such tones as are opposed to white, have the preference. The all-lace dress for evening remains in tune with the times.

In the wake of the gay and gaudy spangled jacket, the companion to the smart evening gown, is the elegance of the broadened jacket—metalized, as a rule, and, what is amazing, more or less form-revealing.

After a series of seasons in which clothes have merely hung in straight lines, it is startling to find them clinging, even fitted, and revealing lines not so straight, a curve or two being encouraged rather than frowned down.

Bowknots Trim Frocks Offered for Fall Wear

The bowknot shows its interesting curves in many forms of dress decoration, and on the fall models adorns sports and dress apparel alike.

A handsome afternoon frock in one of the new blues in transparent velvet follows the prevailing youthful lines of the long, slightly bunched bodice above a wide, tightly molded hip grille, the skirt plain and short in the back and freely circular and rippling in front to uneven lengths.

A bowknot done in blue and gold metal thread is the center of interest at the V neckline, and on each close-fitting sleeve, between wrist and elbow. This is just the type of frock the small woman or the college miss will appreciate as an example of sartorial simplicity and skill.

Likewise, the bowknot is used to good effect on many a clever sports costume, frequently being an incarnation of self-fabric in a different tone or a contrasting shade, and again of metal or braid.

Cape Back

A new light red crepe satin evening gown is fashioned with a cape back and panel sash ends that flare and round and fall below the hem in the back.

Suede and Kid

Rose suede and plain blue kid are combined in some of the fall frock wear.

Lowell Club.
On Tuesday afternoon the Lowell Club met at the home of Mrs. Van Buren. Miss M. H. Baker had the paper for the day in which she delightfully and informatively presented "The Queen of the Adriatic—Venice." This was followed by a sketch, "The Doges," given by Mrs. Settoon. An old Italian Gavotte was given as a piano solo by Mrs. Van Buren and the Hot Call was quotations from "The Merchant of Venice." Next Tuesday the Lowell Club will meet at the home of Mrs. Wondery when the members of the club will give a World Survey of Current Events in Politics, Art and Literature.

Hackett-Brown.
The wedding of J. Leonard Hackett of Ulster avenue, Saugerties, and Miss Madeline Brown of Partition Street, Saugerties, took place in St. Mary's Church in that village on Sunday afternoon, the Rev. Martin P. O'Garra officiating. The bride was Miss Rose Hackett, a sister of the groom, and the best man was Peter Hackett, a brother of the groom. A reception was held at the home of the bride and following Mr. and Mrs. Hackett left for a short honeymoon in New York City. Mr. Hackett is employed by the New York Telephone Company and upon their return they will reside on Partition Street, Saugerties.

Surprise Birthday Party.
On Thursday, November 15, Mrs. Abram North on returning home from visiting a friend found a jolly Hercules crowd had taken possession of her home, giving her a grand surprise on her 49th birthday. Miss Gertrude Young sang some of the latest songs, being accompanied at the piano by Frank R. Crook. Mr. Every and Mrs. North gave an exhibition of the Merry Widow Waltz. Those present were Mr. and Mrs. C. Warren, Mr. and Mrs. Every and daughter and son, Mrs. George Bishop, Mrs. Pete Curran, Mrs. Harrison, Mr. and Mrs. Durr, Mrs. Mooney, the Misses Rita McDonough, Cornelia Donato, Helen McAndrew, Anna Harrison, Gertrude Young, Gertie Menzel, George Fowler, Robert Eggleston, Frank Crook and Abram North. At midnight a delicious supper was served. In the wee hours of the morning the guests departed wishing the hostess many happy birthdays.

Appa-Wroblewski.
Miss Sophie Wroblewski and Albert Appa, both of this city, were married on Sunday at 1 p. m. in the Church of the Immaculate Conception, 121 West 42nd street, by the Rev. Edgar Brovski. The bride was attired in an ivory satin gown and a bridal veil of tulle. She carried a shower bouquet of white rose buds. The maid of honor, Miss Marion Klim, of 58 Meadow street, wore a dress of shell pink and carried a shower bouquet of pink roses. The best man was John Carpio of 14 Crane street, and bridesmaids were Miss Bertha Bujak, Miss Mary Appa and Helen Secreto, who wore gowns of blue, green and orchid, respectively. Attendants of the bridegroom were Michael Mayone, Michael Ambrose and Charles Benecio, all of this city. A reception was held at home of the bridegroom's parents on Fourth avenue after the church ceremony and the newly married couple were showered with gifts by their friends. Mr. and Mrs. Appa will reside on Hanpratty street, where a newly furnished home awaits them.

Big Fire Loss Laid to Careless Smokers

Every year $100,000,000 worth of property goes up in flames in the United States because matches burn too long. That is the conclusion drawn from recent experiments by the United States bureau of standards. The average time required to light a pipe or cigarette was found to be ten seconds. The stick of a match burns an additional twenty seconds.

A million matches, says Popular Science Monthly, are used in the United States every minute. Many of these start fires after they have been thrown away. The experimenters found that special matches, with water-glass coating the sticks up to half an inch of the head, burned only half as long as ordinary ones. While proving as effective for lighting purposes, they were generally consumed before they could set fire to surrounding grass or rubbish.

Know One Word

Company from out of the city was being entertained in an East side home. George, the visitors' son, age three, and Raymond, the hosts' nephew, age three, developed quite a friendship. When at last the guests were obliged to leave, the host asked the name of the street in which they lived. They replied as to the street and also proceeded to spell it. George, desiring to imitate his elders asked: "What is your last name and how is it spelled, Raymond?"

Ray was acquainted with the spelling of just one word, so consequently he was slightly baffled by George's question. Soon, however, he smiled and replied, "Why, my name is Raymond Goodman, s-t-o-p."—Indianapolis News.

Dress Suit's Origin

The Haberdasher says: "As far as we know, the formal dress suit of today is the natural evolution of the dress coat of the Continental era and before. Black came in when fancy colors went out, and found its place in formal dress apparel as it did in ordinary day wear. The dress coat, from a designer's angle, has changed but little from similar garments worn 150 years ago. Long trousers, as is commonly known, were first introduced by George Bryan Brummell and the vest itself is only an evolution of the waistcoat which previous generations had favored."

Boy Hit By Auto.

Thomas McInerney, 6, of 6 Cottage Row, was struck and knocked down by an automobile driven by Leo Pold of 62 Newkirk avenue on Broadway at St. Mary's School on Tuesday. The boy was rushed to the City of Kingston Hospital where it was found he had been cut on the forehead and his cheek bruised. Later he went home. According to the police report the boy ran out into the road in front of the car.

Court of Appeals Declares Unconstitutional Law Under Which Prisoners Charged With Felony Pleaded Guilty Without Hearing Cases Come Before Grand Jury.
Albany, N. Y., Nov. 21 (AP).—The status of more than 9,000 persons sentenced to terms in New York state prisons under an amendment to the state penal code which has been declared unconstitutional by the court of appeals was a matter of uncertainty today.

The court upheld the decision of Supreme Court Justice Joseph D. Senn declaring unconstitutional an amendment which permitted persons charged with a felony to plead guilty before the grand jury. Announcement of the court's action was made by Justice Senn, who is presiding at a court session here.

An amendment became part of the statute on April 18, 1927, and its constitutionality was upheld by Attorney General Ottinger. On his recommendation county judges accepted pleas of guilty from persons not indicted.

Justice Senn's decision was given last February in the case of Patsy Battista of Broome county who was sentenced to Elmira Reformatory after pleading guilty to charges of burglary and grand larceny. Later she was released on bail.

Justice Senn said the action before Justice Senn and carried it to the court of appeals for final decision.

Eddyville Man Retires from Army

August Knapp, a resident of Eddyville, retired as first sergeant of the 25th Ordnance Company, U. S. Army, stationed at West Point, on November 2 and is now living a retired life at Eddyville where he maintained a home for the last 12 years. Ex-Sergeant Knapp's 20 years of service in the army is marked by a splendid record and the following order was issued in announcing his retirement:

It is desired to direct the attention of the command to the excellent record of this non-commissioned officer.

Sergeant Knapp first enlisted in Company H, 1st Infantry, Missouri Volunteers, on May 4, 1898, from which organization he was discharged on October 31, 1898. He then served with Company G, Tenth Infantry, from November 3, 1898, to November 2, 1901; Company H, 25th Infantry from March 1, 1904, to February 28, 1907; 115th Company, C. A. C., from April 6, 1907, to April 6, 1910; 112th Company, C. A. C., from April 20, 1910, to April 19, 1912; U. S. M. A. Service Detachment, D. E. M. L., from June 16, 1912, to June 15, 1920; 29th Ordnance Company from June 16, 1920, to June 15, 1922; June 16, 1922, to June 15, 1926, and from June 16, 1926, to date of retirement. Sergeant Knapp served in Cuba from December 14, 1898, to February 24, 1901.

Record Is Clear.

All of his 30 years of service have been honest and faithful with no absence without leave or court-martial to mar his record. He has well earned his retirement, and the best wishes of the command are extended to him for his continued success and prosperity in retired life.

Two promotions have been made in the 29th Ordnance Company. Corporal Hardy Moss will be first sergeant in place of Knapp, retired. Private, first class, Joseph M. Dockery, corporal in place of Moss, promoted.

Local Death Record

New Paltz, Nov. 21.—Samuel Gibson died at his home in New Paltz last Sunday. The body was taken to Woodstock for burial.

Mrs. George Davis of Brookside Farm at Pine Grove, town of Saugerties, whose husband died last Wednesday, died Tuesday morning at the Benedictine Hospital. Mrs. Davis had gone to the hospital on Saturday afternoon immediately after the funeral and burial of her husband and on Sunday underwent an operation for abscess of the brain. She failed to rally from the operation.

Harry Sheldon died at the Benedictine Hospital on Tuesday, aged 77 years. He was the son of Mrs. Essie Auchmoody Libold and the late John C. Libold. Funeral from his late residence, 9 Fairview avenue, Friday at 2 p. m. Interment in Wiltyck Cemetery. Besides his mother, one brother, Jesse J. Sheldon, of Newburgh, and one sister, Margaret, wife of A. J. Pisano of Yonkers, survive.

Irving T. Bullis of New Paltz died Tuesday evening at the City of Kingston Hospital. Mr. Bullis had been in poor health for some time. For the past eight years he had been engaged in the furniture business in New Paltz. Previous to that he traveled for The Gray Tint and Fox Candy Company, residing in Detroit, Mich. Mr. Bullis is survived by a daughter, Nellie Bullis; one sister, Mrs. J. G. Winne, of Newark, N. J., and a brother, Louie. Funeral services will be held Friday, November 23, at 2 p. m. in the Dutch Reformed Church, New Paltz. Interment in the family plot in the New Paltz Rural cemetery.

Sophia, wife of John Puffaff, died Tuesday night at the home of her son, William Lindhurst, 78 Roosevelt avenue. She is survived by

New Methodist Church at Paltz

New Paltz Methodist Episcopal Church to Provide Ample Room for Church and Sunday School, Dining and Social Room Also Provided.

Contracts have been let for a new church and Sunday school building at New Paltz, of which the Methodist Episcopal congregation of this city are the benefactors. The church is located on the corner of Main and Grove streets and is considered one of the best plans for this type of structure in the village. The old building of the congregation has been disposed of.

Excavation has been commenced and it is expected that the new building will be ready for occupancy about May 1, 1926.

In the new structure the architects have carried out the design in the style of the English village church, simple but dignified type. The architectural effect has been arrived at by a good proportion and composition and pleasing combinations of materials.

The principal entrance is on the Main street side and one enters through the narthex or vestibule into the auditorium. This church auditorium on the ground floor seats 250 people. The entrance to the church school portion is from Grove street which also affords a secondary access to the church auditorium. The auditorium is planned on the proportion of the Liturgical type of church and the chancel arrangement will be a modified Anglican form. Wood trusses and rafters will be exposed in the auditorium and will be stained.

In the church school portion there are provided class rooms and departmental rooms such as primary, intermediate and senior rooms, affording ample accommodations for the Sunday school requirements.

Dining and Social Room.

The basement has been planned for a large combination dining and social room with a seating for 150 at tables. Ample stage and dressing room accommodations are also provided, as well as kitchen facilities, storage room, coat room and lavatories as well as the necessary space for boilers and fuel rooms. Additional class rooms are also located in the basement. These lower rooms while termed as the basement are not actually in a basement for the major portion of the church in which they are located will be above grade because of the contour of the site.

Provisions have been made for heating the building with steam, controlling the heat units in the walls of the church auditorium. Carrying out the spirit of the type in which this building is designed, the windows will be glazed with improved English double roll leaded.

glass. The floors throughout the building will be of oak.

Henry L. Masterson of New Paltz has the general contract. Russell Cohen of Kingston, electric wiring, back & Gales of New Paltz, heating, plumbing and roof metal work.

REDEMPTION LUTHERAN

EVERY MEMBER CANVAS

The annual Every Member Canvass of Redemptor Lutheran Church will be held on Sunday afternoon. The two-fold objective this year is to urge all members to attend church services every Sunday for the next three months and to make a weekly pledge toward current expenses and benevolences. Thus far over 30 men have been appointed for this task. They will hold a meeting at the church Thursday evening at 8 o'clock for the purpose of discussing the various details of the campaign. They will be commissioned for their work at the morning service Sunday and at 2 p. m. will go forth in twos to visit the congregation. The report of their success will be made at the evening service. The order for 1926 as prepared by the finance committee and approved by the church council will be submitted to the congregation for adoption at a special congregational meeting to be held after the morning service.

INTEREST GROWS IN COMMUNITY CONCERT

The interest in such a Community Concert project as Dr. Sigmond Spach of New York City is ready to give the people of Kingston and vicinity is already growing appreciably, and the telephones of those considered as likely to know about the matter have been kept busy since Tuesday evening's Freeman came from the press. There is just one way of gaining a full and clear idea of exactly what can and will be done, and that is by attending the meeting at the Y. M. C. A. tonight at 8 o'clock, when Dr. Spach will be present. An executive committee will be formed and it is hoped that the project will be gotten under way.

PETER RIESTER RECOVERING TO LEAVE HOSPITAL SOON.

Peter Riestler, 66, of Albany avenue extension, who was injured Monday afternoon when knocked down by an automobile driven by Kenneth Haines of Hoffman street, is reported as improving at the City of Kingston Hospital, where he was taken after the accident. An X-ray taken at the hospital showed no apparent fracture of the skull. If Mr. Riestler continues to improve as at present he will likely be able to leave the hospital this week.

Support Necessary for Tongue of Trailer Car

Any motorist who occasionally makes use of a tow-behind trailer has undoubtedly experienced difficulty in handling it, owing to the necessity of dropping the trailer tongue on the ground, or finding some support for it which is not always available. Here is a good solution for the difficulty. Simply make a support from a length of 2 by 4-inch hardwood and a small reinforcement block of the same stock.

Hardwood Support for the Trailer Tongue is a Help to the Motorist.

Since the support to the tongue with a strap hinge placed on the side toward the trailer, as shown, so that, when not in use, the support can be swung back and held in place by a spring latch. There is little or no danger of the support falling down when the trailer is towed, but even if it should, no damage would be done, as it would swing back and drag. Popular Science Magazine.

Greater Steering Ease Has Been Made Gradually

"Greater steering ease" is an expression often heard in connection with modern motor cars. The fact that the approach to this improvement has been gradual suggests that there are limitations upon progress in this direction. Oscar Coolican, a Washington automobile dealer, declares that if the engineer's problem was merely to make turning the front wheels effortless, it would be simple in the extreme. "But," says Mr. Coolican, "the problem is rather to make steering as nearly effortless as possible without making the front end of the car so sensitive to road and other variations as to make the driver expend more energy to keep it going straight ahead than he now does in turning."

AUTOMOBILE ITEMS

Frequent inspection of spark plugs means infrequent engine knocks.

"Wait for the Wagon," will not be a popular song with the speeders any more.

Avoid sudden stops, quick starts, jerks and skidding. They are hard on the springs and tires.

Education in safety and accident prevention is called an essential course in all schools.

If it is true that a mule was bumped off the road by an automobile, it would appear to have been a head-on collision.

A car whose direction cannot be controlled is dangerous. Make frequent inspections of the steering mechanism.

One homelike touch, says a returned motor camper, was that the family could use the rumble seat for a breakfast nook.

A lot of drivers seem to proceed on the principal that the brakes on the car can be looked after while the driver is in the hospital.

"That form of mine ought to be going up in value," asserted a far-sighted optimist the other evening. "It is now on a main detour to town."

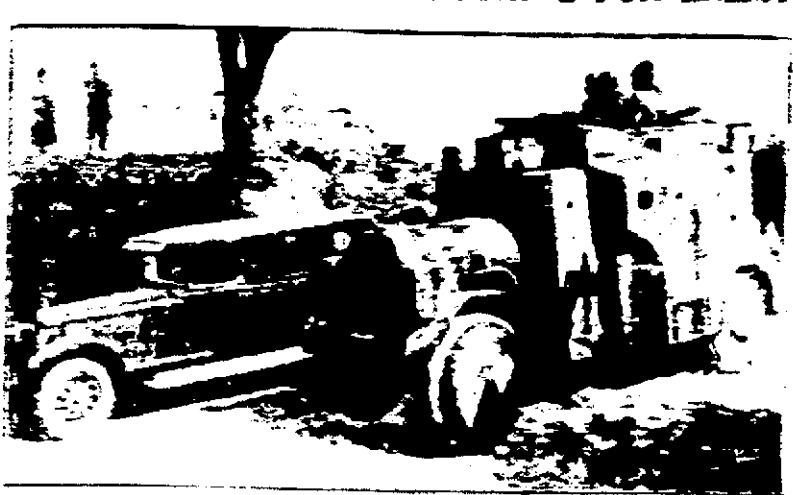

Taxes paid by the automotive industry in the United States are greater than the total paid by both the railroad and the electric railways industry.

Many people in England who walk in quiet lanes and byways at night wear small red glass disks over their shoulders to warn auto drivers that a pedestrian is ahead.

Southworth to Manage Cardinals

St. Louis, Nov. 21. — Billy Southworth, outfielder of the St. Louis Cardinals, world's champion ship team of 1914 and manager last year of Rochester, N. Y., a Cardinal farm, today was named manager of the Cardinals, succeeding William McKeechnie, President Sam Breador, withheld details of the one-year contract.

The popularity of Southworth with St. Louis fans was reflected in a newspaper story was for the Cardinal managerial position. Southworth polled 337 votes to McKeechnie's 313.

A new manager every year, apparently, has been the policy of the Cardinals lately. Southworth succeeds such notables as Branch Rickey, vice president and business manager of the Cardinals; Rogers Hornsby, recently traded to the Chicago Cubs; Bob O'Farrell of the New York Giants, and McKeechnie.

Big Dance at Stone Ridge.

Hoover Enjoys Deep Sea Fishing

U. S. S. Maryland, en route to Annapolis, Nov. 21. — With the first half of his Latin-American tour behind him, J. Edgar Hoover, director of the Federal Bureau of Investigation, today turned his thoughts to his favorite sport. The Maryland was halted between Cape San Lucas and Cape Corrientes, well off the Mexican coast, for deep sea fishing.

The President-elect had in mind the recent experience of bureau of fisheries men in these waters who hooked a gigantic marlin or swordfish, playing it for fourteen hours before landing it.

Hoover did not hope to snag a fish of such proportions as he does not want to interrupt the southward voyage more than a few hours. Three of the Maryland's small boats were ordered out for the fishing excursion, one containing Mr. Hoover and his friends, a second carrying the newspapermen and a third laden with cameramen who unlimbered their machines for the first time on the voyage.

The Maryland will proceed southward again tonight, making the first stop of the tour at Annapolis, Honduras, Sunday. On that same day the Hoover party will go to La

ROTARY CLUB HOLDS UNUSUAL LUNCHEON.

Rotary luncheon this week at the Governor Clinton Hotel was not very well attended. There was no set speech, but Dr. Michael gave a talk on Rotary matters. Jay Terry and several others reported the trip to Stone Ridge and announcement was made that next week the luncheon would be a joint meeting of Rotary and Kiwanis. Among the guests was Harry P. Dodge, who acceded to a request to lead in the singing of one song in order to show how Rotarians used to sing when he was their leader.

Nebraska-Army Elevens Deserve Very High Rating

New York Nov. 21 (AP).—The battle between the Cadets and Nebraska at West Point is the sole encounter in which an eastern team defends itself against the assaults of an invader from some other sector this week.

Dartmouth, apparently back in winning form again, travels west to Evanston to meet Northwestern of the western conference.

The Army-Nebraska game next Saturday is not drawing the same public interest it might have but for two unforeseen incidents during the last two weeks or so. Army apparently was a certainty to enter the battle with the cornhuskers undefeated but Notre Dame spoiled all that on November 16, last Saturday, Nebraska, unbeaten and untied, was held to a scoreless draw by the Pittsburgh Panthers who outplayed their western opponents consistently.

Despite these things there is no doubt that Army and Nebraska can boast of elevens deserving of an extremely high rating in the National list. Their duel will draw plenty of attention even on a card that includes such big-time combats as those between Yale and Harvard at New Haven; New York University and Carnegie Tech at Pittsburgh; Princeton and Navy at Philadelphia; Georgetown and Fordham at the Polo Grounds, New York.

A Yale-Harvard battle draws its 70,000 spectators, rain or shine, unsuccessful season or otherwise. Nothing short of an earthquake can affect that attendance. Although Johnny Garvey and Ed Decker are expected to play a part of the game against Harvard, Yale seems destined to enter the fray the underdog.

Bill Roper is experiencing plenty of trouble in convincing his Princeton Tigers that the season didn't end with the Yale game. There's a strong navy team to be met at Philadelphia this Saturday. Bill is telling his men, and the Tigers will have to approximate the form they showed against Old Eli to keep their season's record clear of defeat.

Chick Meahan, fearing that in sheer power Carnegie Tech will be more than a match for his New York University elevens, indicates he will depend more upon speed than anything else to snap the Pittsburgh Engineers' winning streak. He plans to put the five foot, three inch, 120-pound Duffley Hormel into the Violet's backfield in place of Follet. Hormel can run like a streak but it's a question whether he can stand up for long under the battering he is certain to receive at Pittsburgh.

Fordham is given only an outside chance of beating Georgetown and only a Maroon alumnus will go that far. Brown, which meets Colgate on Thanksgiving day, takes on Rhode Island, and Bucknell, facing a hard turkey day game with Temple, meets Dickinson, while Temple is clashing with Washington College. Holy Cross and Boston College taking a breather before their battle of December 1, tackle Providence and Connecticut Aggies respectively this week. Lafayette and Lehigh meet in another battle that has little more than tradition to draw the crowds. Lafayette won by 43 to 0 last year and the hope is that the margin will be nearly as large this time. Rutgers entertains Swarthmore at New Brunswick while Haverford travels to Newark, Del., for a game with University of Delaware.

SCOTCH LINE WOULDN'T GIVE SAYS CARNEGIE COACH

Chicago, Nov. 21 (AP).—Judge Walter P. Steffen, the commuting coach of Carnegie Tech, explained today why the Carnegie Scotchmen defeated Notre Dame last Saturday, and in so doing he coined a new Scotch joke.

"That Scotch line," said the judge, "just wouldn't give."

For 15 years Judge Steffen has been week-ending in Pittsburgh coaching the Carnegie football teams.

Brundage Will Enforce Rules

New York, Nov. 21 (AP).—A firm hand, one which only a decade ago was being used to hurl the 56-pound weight and the hammer, is to guide the Amateur Athletic Union through the coming year.

Taking office as president shortly before the 40th annual convention came to a close, Avery Brundage of Chicago made it clear at once that the amateur rules are in for strict enforcement.

"It is not the rules that are at fault," he said, "but the administration of them."

Chatting informally, he brought up the cases of "athletes who have grown in ability in, say tennis or on the track, to such a point that they are wanted in all sections of the country."

"Undoubtedly," he added, "Tilden has done the sport of tennis a great deal of good whether he is an amateur or not. About the merits of his case I know little."

"But my personal opinion is that unless a man has some source of income, some regular employment, outside of sport, he is a professional."

Promoters who offer financial rewards to amateur athletes are largely responsible for violations of the code, the president said, and he indicated that a tight rein will be kept upon them.

Los Angeles—Cowboy Jack Willis, Texas, outpointed Joe Anderson, Covington, Ky. (10).

BASKETBALL RULES TO BE DISCUSSED AT "Y" TONIGHT

Amateur basketball rules to govern court contests this year will be explained at a meeting in the Y. M. C. A. tonight at 8 o'clock. All players interested are invited to attend the meeting, especially those who are to take part in various league games at the "Y" this season.

All changes made in last year's rules will be thoroughly explained at tonight's meeting. Frank N. Hinds, physical director at the "Y," Chester R. Hall, boys' secretary, Bob Corcoran, an official referee, and Erwin "Dutch" Craw, who is to referee industrial league games this season, will be at the meeting to discuss the rules. These men recently attended a meeting of National Baseball Officials in New York city, where matters were explained in detail.

Chandlers Again Beat Hupmobiles

Bally in Last Period Staged by Hups Threatened Big Lead—Chandlers Scored Early and Led at Half Time, 27 to 7.

The Chandlers again beat the Hupmobiles Tuesday night, 32 to 24, at the Salvation Army court. This was the second time this season that these teams met and both times the Chandlers were the victors. The "Y" representatives got the lead in the same and held it by a safe margin throughout the battle.

The Hups couldn't keep the pace set by the Chandlers but in the last quarter they went on a scoring rampage but their rally was too late for when they were at the height of their accuracy in scoring points the final whistle sounded which ended the game, leaving the Hups eight points behind their opponents.

The Chandlers went to work right at the start and before the Hups knew what was what the "Y" team had made a couple of baskets. Then Smith scored from scrumage but Krum then made two to Smith's one which didn't mean much to the Chandler lead. Dulin followed Krum's score with another deuce and Krum again found the hoop for another two points. The quarter ended with the Chandlers in front, 11-5.

Jimmy Merritt, the man that knows the Salvation Army court like a book was sent in for Niles. Jimmy wasn't in the game but a minute when he scored twice from scrumage and Kennedy by no means missed shots, for between the two of them they gathered the majority of points the Chandlers made in the second quarter, while on the other hand their opponents only added two points to their tally. When the half ended the Chandlers led by a score of 27-7.

The third quarter saw the Hups slowly gain on their opponents. Corregan was scoring from the center of the court while the Chandlers had a hard time finding the hoop. Bass scored the first point for his team in the second half by making a free try good and Merritt followed this score with a field goal. Stumpf made a pretty one-handed shot from the side of the court and the Hups continued making fancy shots. When the third quarter ended the Chandlers had double their opponents' score, 32-16, where at the end of the first half the Chandlers had almost four times the Hups' score.

Hupmobiles Rally

According to the way the Chandlers scored in the second quarter and in the third period, it looked as though they had better get going or the tune might be played to a different rhythm in a short time.

The Chandlers' splendid floor and pass work is the thing that pulls them through every time, for while their opponents were taking shots from the center of the court the Chandler forwards were receiving snappy passes under the basket from their teammates and putting the ball through the hoop before they could be stopped, but however in the last quarter the Hups could not seem to help making their shots.

Corregan made baskets from all angles of the court, making three field goals in succession. Wonderly the big high school varsity center of last year, and pivot man for the Hups, gathered his nine points all in the last quarter when he would follow up his team's shots and make them good when they were missed. It was this sort of playing that put the Hups within striking distance of their opponents lead.

St. Peter's Five Ready for Season

St. Peter's quintet, for which Bill McNally is booking agent, is ready to start the season, according to the schedule maker, who named the following players as members of the team: Chet Dolson, Harold Johnson, Bud Culloton, Dan Joyce, Harry Scheffel and Tommy Davitt, captain.

Joe Bruck, who played with the team last year, has not definitely stated whether he will be with St. Peter's this season.

McNally booked the team last year and St. Peter's overcame some strong opposition dug up by Mac. He intends to pit his charges against some fast court performers again this season in a number of road games. Of course the team has no home court and will have to seek contests with outstanding fives of the Hudson Valley.

Just what team will be the first to meet St. Peter's has not been definitely announced. McNally has written a number of letters to quintets in its district, but as the season is in its infancy, has had no reply. It is thought either Wapping Falls, Beacon or Liberty will take on the local quintet for its initial game.

Teams who would like to do business with McNally can reach him any evening by phoning 2532. St. Peter's will play amateur or professional rules.

Action in Navy Football Games

How it's done in the navy. There's action in them that games played by the eleven representing the various battleships in the Pacific fleet. This one shows Jack Stevens of the U. S. S. West Virginia trying to tear over the U. S. S. California line for a gain. Stevens is one of the best ball packers in fleet football.

French Star Mimics Helen, Not Suzanne

Helen Willis and not Suzanne Lenglen is the model which Mademoiselle Yolande Metaxa, the sixteen-year-old girl who recently won the junior tennis championship of France, is striving to copy.

Aggressiveness and speed of stroke displayed by the youthful champion instead of the soft placements and keeping ball in play, show that she has built up her game along the lines of the American champion's style rather than that of the former French and Wimbledon star. So once again it is: Helen versus Suzanne.

Mademoiselle Metaxa's forehand drive is remarkably powerful. She meets the ball on the rise and sends it splashing across the corner or straight down the aisle with a speed that many ranking men players might envy. Mademoiselle Metaxa is the best feminine tennis prospect developed in France since the reign of Suzanne.

Sport Notes

Fullback Steve Harnas of Penn State, made letters in football, lacrosse, boxing and track in 1927.

Detroit is going to clean house, and the only men sure of their jobs are Gehring, Neun, Rice, Whitehill and Carroll.

The fastest base runner in the International League is Joe Habbitt of Toronto. He finished the season with 50 stolen bases.

Berri Follett, sub halfback for N. Y. U., almost made one of those 100-yard runs for touchdown recently. He missed it by two yards.

The American Hockey association comprises Kansas City, Tulsa and St. Louis in the South and Minneapolis, St. Paul and Duluth in the North.

Only Earl Smith, Babe Pearce, Jim Shidmore and Ellis Hagler remain on the Alabama squad of the team that tied Stanford in the Rose Bowl two years ago.

The Pirates now have a Spencer battery. Roy Spencer, former Pirate catcher, was brought back from Indianapolis, and Glenn Spencer, the pitcher, from the Columbia club.

Dr. George King, New York physician, conqueror of John Hennessy of the Davis Cup team, puts business before pleasure. He never refuses a call to play in his favorite game.

George Haas, slated to spend a season in the International League this year, managed to out both Speaker and Cobb from the Philadelphia outfield and stuck to the finish.

Since he first entered the ring in 1910, Battling Levinsky, former light heavyweight champion of the world, has met practically every prominent boxer near his weight in that time.

The Haskell team is representative of all Indians. Twenty-four tribes have sent candidates. And the Indians will roam afar, all but two of the games being in remote sections of the country.

Army football players are to be given a mixture of chocolate, eggs and cream after each game to help restore the energy lost in grid battles. A player is known at times to lose ten or fifteen pounds in a game.

The Myers twins, Babe and Bob, of Salt Lake City, are now students at the University of Pennsylvania. Babe Myers has the reputation of being one of the greatest football carriers ever seen in the Rocky Mountain section.

CHURCH LEAGUE ENTRY FEES WANTED BY SECRETARY

Chester R. Hall, boys' secretary at the Y. M. C. A., and treasurer of the Inter-Church Athletic League, requests that entry fees for the Church Basketball League be in by Thursday night. A deposit of $5 is asked of teams entering the circuit and must be paid before quinquies will be allowed to play. It is hoped that all church teams will have the deposit paid by the time specified, so Treasurer Hall can complete his work.

Industrials to Start December

Every detail is set for the starting of the Industrial Basketball League on Thursday, December 6. Games will be played in the circuit every Thursday evening, starting at 8:15 o'clock. Thursday Opens
Pythians' Season

The Port Ewen Knights of Pythias tonight will open its season Thursday night, November 22, at the Port Ewen hall court against the Hopeaboles of Kingston. The game is scheduled for 7:45 o'clock and will be followed by dancing. Ed Leverett's Night Hawks will furnish music.

It is expected that the Thursday night game will be largely attended. The Pythians have been practicing to whip themselves into first class shape for the game. Members of the team are well known to followers of the court sport and all indications point to a successful season for the Knights.

The Port Ewen lineup includes: Joyce and Van Kien, forwards; Hyatt, center; Short and Terwilliger, guards; Short and Hill Smith, reserves. This combination has been looked to meet some of the fastest teams in the vicinity this season.

In taking on the Hugs the Knights of Pythias team will make its debut against a hard fighting quintet, that will give the Knights plenty to worry about.

SLEEP BROKEN 35 TIMES
DURING AN AVERAGE NIGHT

Observations by Investigators Show Men More Restless Than Women.

New York.--You may think that you sleep like a log, but you don't. The fairly typical sleeper awakens at least 35 times in the course of an ordinary night, and in general men are more restless than women.

These facts have been determined by H. M. Johnson, director of an investigation at Mellon Institute of Industrial Research, University of Pittsburgh. More than 50 different people have been under observation for several months during the investigation, and experts have recorded more than a quarter of a million periods of rest to determine how much sleep people actually need and to get data about how they sleep.

Subjects ranging in age from sixteen years to sixty-three years, of both sexes, and of widely different states of health contributed to the experiments. One of the reasons for the investigation was to find out how little sleep is necessary.

Persons absorbed in interesting work or play begrudge the interruptions of sleep. They are the ones who want to know if there is any harmless way of getting along with less than seven or eight hours in bed, Johnson explains. "When a person falls asleep he loses most of his personal dignity. He begins to behave much like a vegetable, and he looks the part. He spends a third of his life asleep, and its effects persist through a good part of another third.

"Even during the hours of work we are awake to only a small group of objects at any one instant and are asleep to all of the rest. An instant later we are awake to a second group of objects, and asleep to some of the members of the group to which we were attending an instant before. Thus the reference pattern of our sleep is continually changing, but at no time are we asleep to all the environmental world at once.

"Sleep and waking are relative. Whenever we use the words we imply a certain kind of activity. Ordinarily they refer to motility. An organism is awake to those changes to which it responds by specific movement; to all other changes we call it sleep. In sleep it is motility which is suppressed; certain other vital activities are maintained, and some are intensified.

"Of 22 college boys studied at Mellon Institute, the least motile slept about once in 25 minutes; the most active once in 7 1/2 minutes; the most typical about once in 13 1/2 minutes."

Cuba Just a New

Island, After All!

Havana.--An Indian legend that once dry land connected Cuba and Yucatan is receiving sensational revival from excavations by archeologists.

At Lake Mamoten, in the province of Pinar del Rio, Cuban earthen pots bearing inscriptions similar to those of the dead Mayan civilization of Mexico and Central America are being dug up by American archeologists and naturalists co-operating with the Cuban government. The similarities in pottery are striking. Some of the pieces are said to be almost exact copies of Mayan wares taken from the ancient city of Chichen-Itza and other places in Yucatan and Campeche. Fossil remains have been unearthed of animals identified as belonging to species now existing in Mexico. Some of these animals now live in Mexican highlands.

Legendary tales of Cuba, dating back many centuries and handed down from the old Siboney Indians, say that at one time the Straits of Yucatan connected with the western end of the island. A terrific inundation left only the higher lands of the region exposed, cutting off land communications.

Berlin Will Build

a Palace of Youth

Berlin.--Plans for the construction of Berlin's "Palace of Youth" have been approved, calling for expenditures totaling $1,000,000.

It is designed to serve as a social welfare center where organizations connected with the German Youth Movement will have their headquarters.

Great building projects are afoot in other parts of the capital. These include a new department of justice building, costing $2,500,000, and the largest covered swimming bath in the world. A glass dome 500 feet in diameter will span a water course 65 feet wide. A shady shore with artificial sunshine and seaside mural paintings will create the impression of outdoor bathing.

Fight Tickets
Selling Fast

Tickets for the National Guard fights to be held in the armory on Friday night, November 23, are going rapidly. It is expected that the patrons will outnumber previous fight attendances by a large majority.

Little need be said about the calibre of the show. The full card has been published and the fighters listed are known to be a bunch of cauliflowerer ear men who always turn in good performances. The main tilt, between Vince Coffey and Georgie Deschner, promises to be crowded with action. Coffey is training daily in a local gym and looks very good. Vince says his weight is 155. Sparring partners, including Johnny Patton, stone and Vance Hart, who is a fast little scrapper, claim that Coffey's punching has improved as well as his speed.

Nick Zinna, local boy, who is scheduled for a six rounder with Irish Joe Haley of Newburgh, is keeping fit by working out in the armory gym for National Guard scrappers. His managers, Sergeant James M. McCabe and Eugene Conway expect Nick to show up very well in his tilt with Haley, who is classed as one of the fastest two-handed fighters and classiest boxer in the Hudson Valley.

Porch Lamps Stolen

Some miscreant a few nights ago stole two square ornamental electric lamps or lanterns hanging on the porch of a residence property at 160 Hurley Avenue. The lamps were suspended from iron bands bolted fast and the iron was broken and the lamps taken. The house, which is unoccupied, was formerly the residence of Raymond Golden, who recently moved to Beacon, N. Y.

Yellow Jackets
Prepare for War

Coach Preston's Yellow Jackets will go to it in a practice session Thursday evening in preparation for their grid battle with the Schenectady Royals next Sunday at the Kingston Fair Grounds. This team is a capable aggregation of the upstate district, that will give the Yellow Jackets a very hard fight it is said.

Various elevens of the upstate district, where the Royals have been playing good ball this season, have words of much praise for the Yellow Jackets' future opponents. They are said to be smart gridlers with plenty of left to back up a flock of trick plays, which they have fully mastered.

The Yellow Jackets are working hard to get into the proper form for their tilt with the Royals and their attitude promises that the game will be one of the best played so far this season.
